NEW CO-OP SMOKEHOUSE NOW IN OPERATION — HEAVY SHIPMENTS OF ALASKA FISH RECEIVED

A new and up-to-date smokehouse, designed along the most modern scientific lines for efficiency and quality of product, has been installed in connection with the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative plant at Westview Bay and is now ready for operation. In connection with the final checking up, William Lantz, assistant to Otto Young, chief research engineer for the Pacific Fisheries Experimental Station at Vancouver, has been here for the past few days. It was Mr. Lantz who designed the new Co-op smokehouse plant. He arrived from Vancouver on the Prince George Wednesday and is sailing by the Princess Norah this afternoon on his return to Vancouver.
