Andy Glover Joins Legion

Accepts Position as Chief Steward of "27 Club"

Return to the city will be welcomed by many friends of Andrew H. Glover, who arrived on Wednesday from Kelowna to take the position of chief steward of the "Legion 27 Club" in the new Canadian Legion building on First Avenue which is being opened on March 29.

"Andy" is well-known locally, having been steward of the Prince Rupert Club for ten years prior to the war. On his return from the war, he accepted the position of Chief Steward of the Canadian Legion branch at Kelowna which he has filled for the past five years. His skill in this vocation evidently folowed him to England as he was detailed off for three months' duty in the officers' mess at Aldershot.

Make Way For Hotel

The buildings, former war built structures which for years have been providing accomodation for the C.N.R. porters are being dismantled, and will, it is understood, be re-erected in the yards in the general neighborhood of the railway shops. They have been standing in the railway reserve, down the hillside from the Christian Science premises, on the proposed new hotel site.

Book Publishers Have Record Year

LONDON, (CP)—More books were published in Britain in 1949 than in any previous year, the trade journal The Bookseller reported. The year's output of new titles was 11,924—600 more than in the previous record year of 1937. Books on hobbies, sports, art, architecture and music showed the largest increases. Biographies slumped in number and novels were sharply down—3,500 against 5,100 in 1937.

This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board or by the Government of British Columbia.
