

When an applicant for a job is sent to you by N.E.S., Mr. Employer, your employment office may have gone through a thousand names in order to find "the" man, or woman, to suit your needs.

It may be that there is no one in your locality who can fill the job. By a special clearance system, N.E.S. can find the right man—be he in New Glasgow, New Toronto or New Westminster.

The "one man in a thousand" may be an executive, a craftsman, or other specialized worker . . . according to your needs.

Make full use of your local office of the National Employment Service.

Foreman of Tram Has Close Call

STEWART — James Burnett, tram foreman for the Silbak Premier Mine, had a narrow escape during the past week. He was repairing the tram line when the cable slipped and threw him about thirty feet in the air. How he escaped death is a miracle. He apparently landed partly on a bank of snow and partly on the beaten trail, unconscious for a few minutes. Recovering consciousness he was able to walk with a little help to the road where a car met him and he was taken to Premier for examination by Dr. Walker, resident physician. He suffered a fractured rib on the left side and has innumerable bruises.

STEWART LEGION W.A. IS FORMED

STEWART — The Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was formally launched on Wednesday last, in the Club Rooms of the Stewart Branch. It was a memorable St. Andrew's Day for the ladies. Officers of the Stewart branch, headed by Vice President John Wolstenholme, formally installed the ladies in office.

STEWART WOMAN PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Grace McMillan of Stewart, who entered hospital here a month ago, suffering from a fractured leg, died during Tuesday night at the age of 67. She was a widow and was a well-known resident of the Stewart district for the last 25 years. At one time she operated a road house on Bitter Creek, stopping place for miners and prospectors. She married the late James L. McMillan about 15 years ago. There are no children. Her husband pre-deceased her about three years ago.

IT STINKS!

BRANDON, Man. (C)—Brandon consumers, complaining about the obnoxious odor of gas here, have been told they have to put up with it. Brandon gas is manufactured from coal, and recent coal-mine strikes forced the utilities commission to accept a substitute with high sulphur content.

ST. PATRICK IS HONORED

Stewart Celebrates Anniversary of Birth of Ireland's Patron Saint

STEWART—A fresh fall of eighteen inches of snow was no deterrent to the residents of Stewart who turned out on Saturday at the Moose Hall to honor St. Patrick and incidentally John Wolstenholme, whose birthday is also March 17.

J. P. Garlick, ably assisted by a select committee, arranged an excellent program. Good as it was, the program would not have made the hit it did, had it not been for the fine supper put up by the ladies of the Moose under the very able leadership of Mrs. Jack McKay who was convener of the supper committee.

Those taking part in the program were Mr. Jack Bouzek, Mrs. Harry Wilkinson, W. R. Tooth, Sam Kirkpatrick, George Nelson, Miss Dickson, A. Phillips and W. S. Orr.

The net proceeds will be turned over to the Parent Teachers Association to go towards the purchase of a projector for visual education at Stewart School.

Denmark is about 224 miles long from north to south and 497 miles from east to west.

FRANCOIS LAKE

Mrs. Karl Erikson and daughter Catherine were visitors to Smithers over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. John Keefe left for Vancouver on Saturday morning. Mrs. Keefe expects to be gone about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shaffer entertained a party for sleighing on Friday night. All had a delightful time.

The roads are still good although the snow is starting to melt off in places.

Word has been received that Florence Holtz has been very ill in a hospital in Saskatoon. She has had five operations to remove a brain tumour and has been in the hospital for six months. She has been blind and unable to walk but is able to see again and will have to learn to walk when she is allowed up again.

The Farmers Institute Dance on St. Patrick's Day was well attended. The evening started off with a picture show, shown by the Burns Lake Welfare Committee.

FRANCOIS LAKE IS NOW FROZEN

The lake has frozen over at last and is strong enough to allow people to walk across in safety. With these cold nights the ice is strengthening. It has been necessary for the Public

fifty years of service

WITHIN the year which has just dawned, The Vancouver Daily Province will complete fifty years of service to the people of Vancouver and British Columbia, and enter upon a second half century.

These fifty years have been notable years for any newspaper privileged to live and serve through them, for they have provided more news and greater news than any like period since newspapers began. And the facilities for gathering news, printing it and delivering it to the homes of the people have never been so complete.

The Province is proud to be able to say, as it glances back across its half century, that it has neglected few of the opportunities presented to it by the times which gave it birth and sustenance. The Province began as a very small daily in a small but dynamic city of not more than 20,000 people. It starts its second half century as one of Canada's greater newspapers, serving a community of half a million. It began with rather sketchy facilities, both in the way of news services and mechanical equipment. It looks toward the years ahead with services already equal to the best in the country and with equipment unsurpassed.

These are The Province's outer and more obvious qualities and advantages. The inner are more important. For every newspaper is more than the paper and ink that go into its making, more than the machines that turn it out, more than the men and women who write and edit it.

A newspaper is not a mere succession of pages. In time it develops a personality. It is more than an aggregation of columns, for the columns are only the clothing of its character.

The Province has a personality and a character that have developed with the years and have not happened by mere chance. There has been deliberate and consistent guidance. From the first, the newspaper's ambition has been to be received as a trusted friend in the homes of British Columbia and to that end it has bent its energies.

It has aimed to be a good newspaper and a clean one. It has sought news where news was to be found, at home or abroad. It has laid emphasis on accuracy in reporting. It has endeavored to interpret the news in the light of research and experience and with an eye to the best interests of the nation and the community. Its guiding principles throughout have been progress, integrity, character, and faithful attention to those principles have made it a Vancouver and a British Columbia institution.

The Province is proud of its record through fifty years. It is proud of having started on its course when British Columbia and Vancouver were young and it is proud to have grown with both. It has been a singular privilege to have shared in their development, to have told their story and to have helped fight some of their battles.

And now, on the verge of its second half century, The Province looks forward to wider opportunities to serve the people who have come to know it and to trust it. It has plans for the future, but the guiding principles will not be different from those that have brought it thus far.

It cherishes the confidence and friendship of its readers as its dearest possession and will work to retain these treasures and consolidate them.

It will continue to search the world for news and present the news it gets fairly and objectively. In its comment it will throw on the news what light it can command. And it will always keep its pages clean.
