A New Champion

PRINCE RUPERT welcomes George Murray, publisher of the Alaska Highway News, Fort St. John's weekly newspaper, as a new and outspoken champion of this port as the Pacific Coast railway outlet for the Peace River country. Mr. Murray's article on this important matter, reprinted in the Daily News yesterday, was read with great interest and appreciation here. It should give us new heart and enthusiasm for our own campaign which has been dormant for some time after years of disappointment because of apathy and indifference of the authorities in the matter of the Peace River railway outlet in general.

Mr. Murray's outright assertion that "a Grande Prairie-Prince Rupert line would involve less capital expenditure than the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway north" was of particular interest and in complete accord with views which have been long held by the champions of the direct outlet to Prince Rupert.

It is also something to have the former M.L.A. suggest that the trading possibilities of Alaska through Prince Rupert with the Middle West of the United States might be extended as far west as Montana.

INCREASED TRAIN SERVICE

WHEN TWO YEARS or so ago the Canadian National Railway discontinued the daily or six-times-a-week train service between Jasper and Prince Rupert we protested loudly. It is fitting, therefore, that, now it is being restored, we should acknowledge the decision with appreciation.

It is to be realized, of course, that the increasing of the service by regular trains is to some extent a substitution for special express trains which would, otherwise, have to be operated during the fish shipment season. However, it will provide the facility for handling more tourist and general passenger traffic and will be a boon to those travelling through the central interior.

It is to be hoped that conditions may be such that the daily train service will be for all the year around instead of only in the summer.

ETHICS IN BUSINESS

BECAUSE IT GOES to the very heart of human nature, the question of right and wrong is not a simple subject. But since it is so important to the well-being of individuals, social communities, and the nation, it is well worth a little thought, says the Royal Bank of Canada monthly letter.

From the very beginning of things, there have been obligations arising out of social contacts. The fourth chapter of the Bible's first book puts on record a momentous question: "Am I my brother's keeper?" Today's viewpoint is that every man has a certain responsibility toward others.

When we narrow this down to the morals of business, we find that the spirit finds expression through fair play, honorable dealing, and keeping one's word.

Most business men have a solemn feeling of their obligations to maintain honor in the business world. They are men who recognize the importance of the square deal as part of creative industry.

In recent years a new sense of community obligation has been added to old ideas of personal goodness.

LETTERBOX

WOULD RAISE CAPITAL

Editor, Daily News:
With reference to a letter which appeared in your paper, regarding lack of employment opportunities for school graduates and local residents, the following remedial measure, which, with the co-operation of the required number of interested persons, would develop a progressive community.

The writer is anxious to contact energetic persons with vision and enterprise who would be interested in forwarding a program, on a contributory basis, to raise sufficient capital, with a view toward establishing an industry which would supply work on a year-around basis.
JOE FELLER.

JACES URGE BETTER RADIO

The cause of improved radio broadcasting from Prince Rupert is to be taken up by the Junior Chamber of Commerce which will urge the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation to release its better network programs through the local station.

According to a decision made at the monthly meeting of the Junior Chamber last night, a survey will be made among city radio listeners to determine the type of programs favored. A committee will convey the information to the nationally-owned broadcasting corporation with a request that the desires of the public be considered.

Heading the committee will be J. H. Jefferies who will supervise the survey. He told the Junior Chamber that "if we get the whole of Prince Rupert behind us, we can force the Dominion government to give some consideration to Prince Rupert."

COASTGUARD, LIFE SAVING, MERCY FLIGHTS TO BE DEMANDED

The Junior Chamber also will submit a resolution to the Association Boards of Trade of Central B.C. urging support of member Chambers of Commerce to support better radio programs for the district.

Some type of coastguard service which will make provision for mercy flights to remote communities also will be demanded by the organization in a resolution submitted to the regional convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The resolution will ask that, in the interests of public safety, the Canadian government make some provision for a coastguard and rescue service, or else eliminate barriers to American aircraft entering Canada so that such services can be rendered by U.S. aircraft without customs barriers.

The regional Junior Chamber convention is to be held in Victoria at the middle of May.

MANY VISIT NEW GARAGE

Lindsay Motors Service Station and Showroom Centre of Attractions

There was a steady flow of interested callers throughout yesterday afternoon and into evening for the opening of the fine modern new garage and service station of Lindsay Motors Ltd. on Second Avenue at First Street.

President J. S. Lindsay, Manager S. J. Hunter and other courteous guides proudly showed the guests around the splendidly built and admirably equipped establishment.

Particularly interesting was the showing of new DeSoto and Dodge cars and trucks, most of which it was learned had already been sold and would be soon moving off the showroom floor.

The premises continue open for public inspection.

PRICES ARE FANTASTIC

Ben Sampson Tells of Conditions in California "Prices are fantastic" remarked Ben Sampson, speaking of conditions in Southern California when he returned to the city this week.

"And the way people are streaming toward that part of the west does not help the situation any. I was told that on an average, about 20,000 persons from the middle west and east, move to Los Angeles and other California cities each month."

Mr. Sampson left here last January 1, and arrived back Wednesday aboard the steamer Prince Rupert. He is staying for the present at the St. Elmo.

While away Mr. Sampson lived at Burbank, which has a population of about 70,000. Los Angeles is near. There, the people number about a million and a quarter. Burbank is named for Luther Burbank, the famous botanist and naturalist, who settled there many years ago, and when the city of today was a comparatively small community.

Mr. Sampson says he found a decided difference in the people dwelling in the south, and those up north. This is explained, doubtless by the fact that where the former are concerned, the cities are large and busy.

Everyone appears hurried and intent on his own affairs exclusively.

SANDY HAMILTON

KEEN FOR PHOTOGRAPHY AND BASKETBALL—TO BE DRAFTSMAN

Sandford Hamilton, who never gets anything but "Sandy" from his friends, has delivered papers four out of the five years he has been in Prince Rupert. The first ten years of his life was spent east of the Rockies where he was born in the little town of Mielmorn, Saskatchewan.

Sandy is in Grade 9 this year. A keen amateur photographer, he is a member of the Booth Memorial School photo club. For hobbies he divides his interests between stamp collecting and building flying models of planes.

Basketball, according to Sandy, is a first rate sport and, as a member of Booth Memorial High School's junior basketball team, he gets plenty of action in the game he enjoys above all others. Sandy is a member of the Civic Centre and this coupled with all his other activities fairly well takes care of his spare time but, when he has a few minutes free, he enjoys reading.

Sandy, who recently returned to the service of the Daily News after an absence of several months, has a newly formed route—number 22. It is a very straightforward beat taking in the stretch of Sixth Avenue East between Ambrose and Second Overlook.

When it comes to naming his life work Sandy doesn't hesitate. He is going to be a draftsman.

Just because he was born in 1897

Does that mean he can't apply for a job with you?

His birth certificate is dated 1897— he's 50—does that mean, Mr. Employer, that he's "too old for the job"? Many employers do tend to reject men over 45 years old, and women over 35!

Consider carefully when you have a vacancy whether it could not be filled as capably by an older man or woman—due to the experience and stability they bring with them.
