Modern Etiquette
By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Will you please tell me whether it is good form to have "Miss" before one's name on calling cards?

A. This is not only correct for an unmarried woman, but the omission of the title "Miss" is a social error.

Q. Would it be correct for a man to remove his coat while eating in a public place, where both men and women are dining, and it is unusually warm.

A. No.

Q. "I shall be happy to accept your invitation?"

Q. Is it correct to write or A. No. Say, "I am happy to accept your invitation."
