Nobody Wants Freedom Sons

NELSON (P) - Resettlement of Canada's 3,000 unpredictable Sons of Freedom, possibly in a foreign land, was recommended yesterday by the consultative committee on Doukhobors.

The committee with a definite aim—to end fifty years of strife in a manner fair to both Canada and uncompromising Freedomites — has some tentative ideas of relocation but it is not ready to make them public. The consultative committee revealed it has asked ten nations, so far unnamed, whether they would welcome the Sons of Freedom. However, the fire-raiding radical Doukhobors, although respecting the laws in recent months, still are not considered

Nine of the countries have not bothered answering. A tenth replied but the answer was "No." Relocation should "at an early date," the committee stressed, be in Canada or another country. This move would be in the interests of the whole country," the committee said, adding that resettlement would be specifically designed to promote peace S Laid at Rest and security of the orthodox group as well as the welfare of the Sons of Freedom.
