IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN!

Civic centre Notes

ART LESSONS—These will be one of the new features of the program beginning next week. The adult group wishing lessons will meet Thursday afternoon and the Teen-agers Saturday. Miss Jean Faure, who will be giving these lessons, says that all a persons needs the first day is a pencil, charcoal and a sketch book or just dull finished drawing paper. As part of the first day will be devoted to a discussion of what in particular each person wishes to learn, it will be helpful if those who have done work before bring a few samples of their drawings or paintings.

SHELLWORK—Mrs. G. S. Read will teach shellcraft to an adult group this season. Wednesday afternoon has been chosen as the best time so that shellwork may be available for

DEATH CLAIMS
PETE LA FRANCE

Was Associated With Northland Since Early Days

Peter LaFrance, pioneer Yukon and Portland Canal prospector, who became something of a legend in the north during 50 years of searching for metals, died this morning in the Prince Rupert Pioneer Home where he found the last haven of his 87 years of life.

A big, vigorous man, Mr. LaFrance was the first man ever to cross the 21 miles of the Bear River Glacier at the head of the Portland Canal, an experience which he ranked among the most difficult of his life. During the trip, he lost his gear in an ice crevice and went 80 hours without eating.

Born in Montreal, Mr. LaFrance became the owner of a hotel in the Quebec city but sold out and came west in 1898 when tuberculosis took his wife and four sons.

In the Yukon, he operated claims on Bonanza and Sulphur Creeks, but left them in 1900 to go to Nome. He mushed 1,800 miles from Dawson to Nome in 53 days.

In 1905, he went to Victoria, but, hearing of mineral strikes at Stewart, he returned north. He took out claims on American Creek and once owned the Moonlight group near Alice Arm.

Mr. LaFrance was a man of many interests. He was once president of the Atlin Liberal Association and was eight times deputy returning officer for that district.

His hobby was stamp collecting and his album at one time contained 4,000 stamps.

Mr. LaFrance entered the Pioneer Home last September. He told an interviewer then that: "I've been as healthy as a horse until now."

the mothers of tiny tots as well as to others.

DOLL DRESSING—Next Wednesday all the girls, whether beginners or more expert sewers, are to bring material to make a doll's dress. A beautiful doll has been bought and the better sewers in the group will have the privilege of making clothes for this doll as well as for their own. This doll, with its newly made wardrobe, will be raffled at the spring Hobby Show to raise funds for the Civic Centre.

TEEN AGE LEATHERCRAFT—The teen-age girls will now have a chance to learn leathercraft as well as the boys, the girls coming on Tuesday afternoons and the boys as usual on Wednesdays. The boys have a start on the girls, having made tooled and studded belts, hand-some wallets, change purses and even moccasins, gloves and stuffed shearing animals. It is expected that the girls, some of whom put on such a good show last spring, will soon match the boys in skill. It will be interesting to see at the spring Hobby Show which of the two groups does the more attractive work.

ADULT LEATHERCRAFT—The schedule for this has only slightly changed. Monday night is for beginners and Tuesday is for the mixed advanced group. It is hoped to turn this evening into a half social gathering where members compare work, designs and ideas. A Marshall, who has had much experience teaching leathercraft in the services, will take charge of this group. Several purses have been cut out, some belts, leather boxes and boot ends started, so it is expected that work of a highly skilled and artistic nature will be turned out by this group. Wednesday there is leathercraft for tiny tots' mothers, while on Thursday afternoons the hobby room and equipment is available for the use of all adult groups.

FURNITURE FIT FOR A PRINCE—Students at the Russell Schools in England are shown working on pieces of furniture that will be used in England's new prince's nursery. Pupils at the school offered to make the furniture. Table linen and first dress to be worn by the new prince, Princess Elizabeth announced that she will accept and use the offering.

No Trust

In a Western town close to a reservation, an Indian paid a debt for 50 dollars to the local supply house. The proprietor thanked him for the money, but the Indian stood with arms folded, evidently waiting for something else. The proprietor naturally asked the red man what he wanted:

"Waiting for a receipt." "What do you want a receipt for?" asked the proprietor. "Are you afraid that I will ask you for the money a second time?"

The Indian shrugged his shoulders and said: "When I go to meet the great Father Saint Peter, he will want me to show receipt for 50 dollars which I paid you before I can enter heaven. I want to show receipt when I come to the gate. I don't want to hunt all over hell to find you."

The Indian got his receipt.

Judge: "What possible excuse do you fellows have for acquitting that murderer?"

Juryman: "Insanity."

Judge: "Really? The whole 12 of you?"

Fishermen who have been seeking herring report that the large schools off the west coast of Vancouver Island have disappeared. It is thought the cold weather sent the fish into deeper and warmer waters. Southeast gales off the Queen Charlotte may possibly have a bearing on changing the picture.
