NUTS, RATS, BOOKS

THE U.S. GENERAL Mc-AULIFFE became famous for his defiant word "nuts" in the Battle of the Bulge. Now he tells there was greater co-operation the world that the U.S. and between Federal and Provincial Soviet both have a new "nerve Governments and that housing gas" which will painlessly paralyze whole armies, and rob them of the will to fight.

Seems like a grand idea. In fact, a few whiffs of it at the DO YOU HAVE TROUBLE

Rising Red Gobbles Over

WINNIPEG (CP)—The swollen Red River and its tributaries criss crossing Greater Winnipeg threatened today to cut the prairies' largest city into a half dozen unconnected sections, thus crippling flood control operations. The army boss of all Manitoba flood control operations said the risk that bridges > crossing the river would be put out of action was "alarming." Not only the Red, but the tributary Assiniboine, Seine and

La Salle Rivers were rising steadily. Keeping bridges open is a top assignment for the military for-

The Red Cross was instructed to evacuate 450 persons from Southeastern St. Vital, a low lying Winnipeg suburb.

The ravenous Red now covers 200 square miles of Southern Manitoba.

All reserve army units in the greater Winnipeg area-12 in all—were put on active service in a final effort to stem the spreading flood. Already, thousands of troops are on duty.

The city power supply is threatened. If electricity fails, Winnipeg will lose transportation telephone, newspaper and radio communications and other public utilities. All theatres have been ordered closed immediately

And in this critical point in the flood flight, a growing stream of refugees pour from low-lying suburbs into the city proper More than 12.000 personsmostly women and childrenhave evacuated homes while the men remained in the battle against shaky dikes.
