In European Courts long ago it was considered a supreme honour to be allowed to watch the King eat his breakfast. But no king ever enjoyed a more wholesome, delicious, satisfying dish than the wonderful TWO-GRAIN cereal, POST'S GRAPE-NUTS FLAKES—made from sun-ripened wheat and malted barley.

Here's a royal breakfast... crisp, sweet-tasting, honey-golden flakes with the distinctive GRAPE-NUTS flavor. Extra good for young and old because they provide nourishment everybody needs—useful quantities of carbohydrates, protein, minerals and other food essentials. Ray Reflects . . .
. . . and Reminisces

An Oregon seaside village is having the same kind of excitement that stirred Prince Rupert some years ago. A sea creature, washed up on the beach, cannot be explained. It may be a giant squid, but this is chiefly a suggestion. Even in London, the Prince Rupert mystery aroused wonder for a while, but the day finally came when identity was established. It was just a shark, and a common enough one at that. Rupert had been leaping too swiftly at conclusions.

I am twenty-five cents.
I am not on speaking terms with the butcher.

I am too small to buy a quart of ice cream.

I am too small to buy a box of candy.

I am not large enough to buy a ticket to a movie.

I am hardly fit for a tip, but believe me, when I go to church on Sunday, I am considered some money.—Elaine Jarvis.

March has been saying it with spring sunshine, and bless her for such thoughtfulness. There will not be so much reason to remember a trying winter as Arthur Godfrey, over the air, warbles that breakfast song of his "Heap Big Smoke But No Fire."

Education is indispensable. So is knowing what you prefer to do in life. Sometimes it almost seems there is no preference. Yet, there must be. Discover it, and though you may never make a fortune, there will never be any worrying over a little thing like that.

Returning along Third Avenue to "The Empire" office on a stormy forenoon years ago, the sound of a mingled roar and crash rising above the whistle of the gale made one wonder if something had happened in the immediate neighborhood of the print shop. It had. While the roof was not blown off, the staff had been scared pale by an emergency just outside the back door. In the shape of a slide, manifold tons of boulders, muskeg, windfalls, stumps and trees, tin cans and bottles, sodden earth and general debris had rolled down the steep hillside. The mass smashed in the rear of the premises next door—a small, frame building containing a butcher shop and occupied up stairs.

Should another avalanche come along—and it looked that way—it would be The Empire's turn. This would provide a crackerjack of a story. Live copy was always in demand. But with the lone linotype doubtless partly wrecked, we couldn't publish. And that would be the h—l of it.

Well, there was no harm in going around and having a chat with the City Commissioner, W. J. Alder. If a second slide did hit the office, could damage be claimed from the city? The Commissioner paused, and finally remarked, solemnly:

"That also would be an Act of God."

Up to the present time, the second slide has remained delayed.

P.A. System For School

Final plans for the St. Patrick's Day Tea and Sale to be held on March 17 were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the King Edward School P-T-A at the home of Mrs. F. J. Hensworth. Mrs. B. Roald is general convener and will choose her helpers from the members of the organization. Mrs. Alf. Jensen is in charge of the home cooking. Principal R. G. Moore and staff will take charge of the decorations and direct the White Elephant Sale. School children will make their usual energetic canvass for saleable articles. Proceeds from the Tea and Sale will go towards the P-T-A project which is a public address system for the new school.

An interesting program was planned for the march meeting when Mrs. G. E. H. Montgomery will show colored slides of her trip to New Zealand.

Mrs. W. W. Bowes reported a membership of 182 paid up members. Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Bowes.

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present included Mrs. R. E. Mortimer, president, Mrs. J. Bowman, Mrs. H. Lundseth, Mrs. S. Veitch, Mrs. B. Roald, Mrs. W. W. Bowes, Mrs. P. Mark, Mrs. H. Heiana, Mrs. J. G. J. McDonald, Mrs. F. J. Hensworth, A. G. Moore and J. Goscoe.
