PRIME MINISTER SOUNDS CALL TO ARMS

By PROXY — Korea is the first case of Russian aggression by proxy—that is, aggression by the Russian-armed forces of a Russian satellite, which aims at extending Russia's sphere of power, but does not involve Russia directly. Similar actions, indicated in this map by stippled arrows, are possible in Europe and Asia. In neither there a certainty that the existing local defence of the free nations is adequate to meet even this limited danger. Only a united front would Russia have to move openly in order to conquer territory by military means. On the other hand, if the United States, as the inset globe shows, would bring Russia to the shores of the Indian Ocean and nearly sever connections between East and West. It might become a distinct threat once the resources of the Western Powers were fully engaged in a local war.

Solemn Message To Nation Delivered

Brigade Being Raised for Service in Korea or Elsewhere Required

OTTAWA, (CP)—Prime Minister L. S. St. Laurent, in a solemn and historic message to the country Monday night announced that Canada is forming a special Army brigade primarily for Korea and said that defence production is being stepped up over a wide field of vital equipment. He told the people that Parliament will be recalled within six or seven weeks or earlier if necessary to approve expansion and acceleration of Canada's defence program. Authoritative quarters indicated that the special session will be asked to give the government power to send a new brigade—three battalions of infantry and supporting arms, about 5,000 men in all—to Korea or elsewhere, wherever it will best serve to search for peace through United Nations action against aggression. The brigade will not be fully trained until early next year.

Cabinet will decide the destination on the basis of the international situation which may breed out of Korea.

It is indicated that the expanded defence program will add substantially to Canada's record defence bill of $425,000,000 this year.

The Canadian Army today issued a call for recruits of officers and men for active service. A full page advertisement appears on Page five of the Daily News.

RECRUITING WEDNESDAY

Recruiting of the new brigade will commence Wednesday. Primarily intended for Korea, it will be available for any effective use by the United Nations or the Atlantic Pact nations.

Without special recruiting, Mr. St. Laurent said that it might endanger current defences were a brigade to have been sent to Korea.

"We feel that the present situation calls for something immediate," the Prime Minister said. Therefore, it had been decided to start recruitment immediately for the special force.

Young, fit men were desired and as many veterans as possible. Mr. St. Laurent also announced plans to accelerate production of jet fighting planes, aircraft engines, naval vessels, armaments, radar and other fighting equipment.

SITUATION WORSE

The situation in Korea had deteriorated and Parliamentary action would be required. As soon as possible, therefore, after plans had been formulated for presentation, Parliament would be called—within six or seven weeks or possibly earlier.

No time had been lost and every means possible was being pressed to increase Canada's effective strength.

The objective, Mr. St. Laurent emphasized, was not to "make" but to "prevent" war.

"Our best chance to prevent war is to build up joint strength with speed and determination," the Prime Minister declared. "We owe it to ourselves to do everything possible to prevent a third world war. I hope and trust we will succeed."
