

THE GREATEST CONUS SYSTEM EVER DEVELOPED

1910, forty years ago, Monday morning meant the beginning of a 58-hour work week for every working man.

But over the years—as workers, business and manufacturing methods became more efficient it took less and less working time to produce goods of all kinds.

Result is that today the average work week has been cut to 40 hours in B.C. The saving—18 hours, better than two working days, has been passed on to the man himself to use for leisure time.

But that's not the whole story. Back in 1910 the average household earned about $950 (in 1950 dollars) for its year's work. Today, for a lot less work, it earns $2,100. That's just the same as being paid to stay away from work for over 2 days per week.

WHAT'S OUR ECONOMIC SYSTEM AT WORK. This system has some faults—such as ups and downs in prices and jobs, and everybody in this country, except a small group of would-be reformers, is working to correct them.

But just remember this: If we want to earn still more money—if we want to work still shorter hours—the only way to do it is to make this system, which has already proved itself, work even BETTER. And that means that every man, every business, every machine has got to produce more and more for every hour they work—just as they have been doing since 1910. And if they do, the gains can be shared by everyone.

All of us in this country WANT the system to work better. And if all of us work together—you can be sure it will.

THE BETTER WE PRODUCE THE BETTER WE LIVE.

Freezing Of Foods

Miss Eileen Cross Discusses at Hobby Show

Would Prince Rupert families next winter enjoy shortcakes made from frozen Terrace strawberries, frozen Smithers whipping cream, and sponge cake baked in the summer when eggs are cheap? This was one of the ideas suggested by Eileen Cross during her talk on 'Freezing Foods' on Thursday afternoon at the Hobby Show.

This meal could be started with soup that had been made ahead and frozen. Next one could have frozen fish, meat or poultry purchased during the season when they are cheapest, then handed in to the locker plant manager who cuts them up, wraps them, puts them through the quick freeze then into the locker.

With this could be served several frozen vegetables. Green peas can be shelled quickly by putting them through a hand wringer when the peas will fall on one side and the shells on the other. If the pods have been wet slightly as by washing them, they won't spray all over the room.

Cauliflower freezes well so a demonstration was given of how to prepare and pack one. After being cut into several pieces the cauliflower was dropped into boiling water. Once the water boils again it is timed and in three minutes taken out, drained, dipped in very cold water, then set aside for a few minutes till cool. Next it is popped into a round cardboard container, set in the refrigerator, then taken down to the locker plant as soon as possible.

If flat containers are used food is first packed in plastic bags, or these bags may be used inside round cartons making the cartons fit for use over and over again.

VEGETABLES

All vegetables must be boiled for the three minutes, corn on the cob slightly more, but fruits are merely sliced or stoned and packed in the containers raw. Peaches, pears and apricots are better dipped in a syrup first, but strawberries, raspberries, and prune plums are best packed without the syrup. Canteloupe should be quite ripe. A fruit salad is best packed in a syrup. Whipping cream to serve with these should be packed in the small containers or the waxed milk cartons.

For assorted parcels approved paper must be used as it has a special coating of wax that keeps out the air, prevents drying which is called freezer burn. The paper comes in three weights, the heavy brown locker wrap used for meats, poultry and fish, the less pliable freezer wrap used for cakes, and the thinner peach colored which comes in waxed and plain. The plain is used between layer of hamburgers, green peppers or fruit so that one layer can be used at a time and they won't break when being separated.

Highly seasoned foods such as sausages or stuffed poultry shouldn't be left longer than six weeks as the salt and seasonings tend to make a bitter taste if left too long.

Cakes and pies however can be left a year. Many people do their Christmas baking in the summer when the eggs are cheap, or make ice box cookies in very large quantities, wrap the raw rolls in the plastic material, then take one piece from the freezer to bake each week. Sponge cakes are among the best to freeze, and to demonstrate this Miss Cross had one that had been frozen for ten days. Along with some buns and a pie it had been taken from the locker the day before, then left to thaw at room temperature. Everyone had a poke at them to prove that all three were entirely moist and fresh.

Miss Cross emphasized the need to always label packages with the date, contents and number of the locker. Books on freezing

FIRST JEWISH JUSTICE—A new chapter was written this week in the annals of Canadian judicial history when Harry Batshaw of Montreal became the first member of the Jewish faith to ascend to a high court bench. Prior to his appointment as a justice of the Quebec Superior Court, the 48-year old jurist was a prominent Montreal lawyer.

foods are very helpful. INTERIOR DECORATING—The evening lecture on Interior Decoration covered refinishing wood, covering furniture, selection of materials for drapes, and the arrangement of furniture in a room. Expressing the thanks of everyone and the afternoon sewing group in particular, Mrs. Anne Kelly presented Miss Cross with a Prince Rupert picture. Miss Cross said that, due to so many requests, she expects to come back here about this time next year to give courses in sewing and home furnishing.
