Passing Of Canon Keen

Former Anglican Missionary On Queen Charlotte Islands Dies

Word has been received from his relatives in England of the recent passing of the Rev. Canon J. H. Keen at Tunbridge Wells. He had just celebrated his ninety-eighth birthday and had been in splendid health until a fall he received shortly before his death. The funeral service was taken by Canon E. P. Laycock, formerly of Prince Rupert.

Canon Keen came to the Diocese of Caledonia in 1890, a missionary of the Church Missionary Society of London, England, and was sent to work among the Haidas at Masset on the Queen Charlotte Islands. He remained there for eight years and, during that time, translated into Haida the Gospels of St. Luke and St. John, the Acts of the Apostles, and parts of the Prayer Book. He also compiled a grammar of the Haida language and, in doing so, gave great credit to his two faithful teachers, the late Henry Edenshaw and Mrs. Mary Ridley, for their excellent assistance. From Masset he went to Metlakatla where he remained until he left for England in 1913. For some years he was secretary-treasurer of the Diocese of Caledonia and in 1911 was appointed by Archbishop DuVernet an Honorary Canon of St. Andrew's Cathedral, Prince Rupert.

Alcohol Use Is Discussed

Too Much Specializing Says P. T. Speaker

Summaries of reports on interesting subjects which were the subject of addresses at the Easter convention of the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation were given by delegate F. R. Wright at a joint meeting of all city Parent-Teachers Associations this week. Among the special speakers, at the convention were John R. Meredith, Dr. A. L. Doucette and Hon. W. T. Straith, minister of education.

Mr. Meredith, who has been carrying on a research into the effects of alcohol on the human being, assured the delegates that his Department does not exhort or condemn the use of liquor but serves only to provide the facts. "Law," he said, "whether we feel it to be fair or not in regard to liquor, does not affect liquor habits in the least." The matter lies entirely with the individual, Mr. Meredith declared.

Dr. A. L. Doucette, Professor of Educational Psychology at the University of Alberta in addressing the convention, attributed to the modern age two new ills, "specialitis," referring to modern specialists who seem to make human existence into an endless assembly line and "spectatoritis", a disease caused by too much leisure time through too many modern labor saving devices. He advocated more participation by everyone, especially young people in recreational activities, hobbies and avocations. Dr. Doucette said he believed education to be the greatest controversial issue in the world today—greater even than alcohol sex, the labor situation or the cold war. Everyone seems to be trying to do it, Dr. Doucette said, which is more important, to be able to date the Battle of Hastings, or the Captain of the basketball team. To be able to recognize the split infinitive or a split personality; to be able to repair the weak construction of a complex sentence, or the relationships in one's home; to know what is inside the cover of Scott's "Ivanhoe" or under the hood of a Ford Mercury. In short, Dr. Doucette advocated a fusion of the practical and the academic in education, and the application of the Golden Rule, to subordinate the individual aim to the common good.

Hon. W. T. Straith, Minister of Education, addressed the convention on the subject "Education Means More Than Classrooms", the duty of the school being to teach how to live, not merely how to make a living.

Dr. Straith reported that the new medical faculty of the University of British Columbia will open this fall with an enrollment of 60.

Home Primary F. C. Boyes of the Vancouver Normal School was the feature speaker at a banquet held for delegates. Mr. Boyes made it clear that home is where education begins. There a child should be given love, a set of ideals, an interest in the world, and a little training in good hard work. Mr. Boyes felt that too much of this training is oftentimes left to the school.

Delegates voted to hold the 1951 convention in Victoria on March 28, 29, 30. Mr. Wright's report concluded.

Before and after Mr. Wright's report, P. T. A. members were delighted by several musical selections rendered by the School Orchestra under the direction of BMHS teacher, Fred Huber. The organization, which has only been in existence since late in 1949, has made splendid progress, the audience felt, and in hearty applause conveyed to Mr. Huber and the students much appreciation and encouragement.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served in the staff room.

Here's the good news—

POSTUM IS BACK!

Yes, your grocer has Postum! Good news!—after months of "sold right out". But hurry!—there's a great pent-up demand for Postum. Ask your grocer for it. Three important reasons why—

1 Saves you up to 1 cent a cup on your beverages

Great economy!—Postum saves you up to 60% of the cost of your hot beverages.

2 Contains no caffeine—never upsets you

It's the perfect way to discontinue tea and coffee! Unlike those beverages, Postum never overstimulates you nor costs you sleep.

3 Gives you a satisfying, grand, rich flavor

Postum is a vigorous drink—healthful and satisfying. The more you drink it, the more you like it! For children too—Postum's the safe "grown-up" drink they want.

4 oz. jar makes 50 cups!
