SHIPS AND

Two Union Steamship Co. coastal liners will be in port soon after midnight. The steamer Cardena, Capt. Alex McLennan, taking over the Queen Charlotte Island run from the Cassiar, is due at midnight from Vancouver via the south end of the Islands and will sail early in the morning for Massett whence she is due back on Sunday southbound. The Catala, which is now on the Vancouver-Bella Coola-Prince Rupert run in place of the Cardena, is due at 2 a.m. with Capt. William McCombe in command and will sail a few hours later on her return to Vancouver and waypoints.

Standard Oil Co's tanker m.v. Standard Service, Capt. William Gillespie, is due in port this afternoon from Vancouver with 150,000 gallons of fuel for the company's local tanks and will sail tonight, after discharging, on her return south.
