OLD TIMERS DEFEAT YOUNGSTERS IN SEASON'S BASEBALL OPENER

OLD TIMERS 9; YOUNGSTERS 5

City baseball's old timers demonstrated to its aspiring youngsters for the third time in as many seasons how to win a ball game Monday night. The veterans, full of wiles and a good measure of hard-hitting efficiency, defeated the youngsters by a score of 9-5 in a feature game that climaxed outdoor activities of the Kinsmen's May 24 celebration.

Despite fan-banter that suggested creaking joints and other infirmities, the Old Timers played a steady game while the Youngsters, despite their advantages of speed, were a bit ragged in the outfield and weaker in the hitting department.

Cliff Dahl, old Timers' third-sacker, set the pace for the affair, when, as second man to bat in the first inning, he clouted a double on Alex Bill's first pitch. Neither side, however, scored until the fourth inning.

In the fourth, Jack Lindsay, Hec McKinnon and Benny Windle each got on base on singles, while Rosedale hit to centre field and got on base on a fielder's error.

Lindsay scored off McKinnon's hit and Windle and McKinnon came in from Rosedale's drive. In the Youngsters' side of the 4th inning, Morgan singled and scored when Pavlikis made first on a fielder's error. Foster got on base on a fielder's choice and Hartwig singled scoring Pavlikis.

The fifth inning was scoreless for both sides and in the 6th Youngsters tied the score at 3-3 when Pavlikis, who got on base on a fielder's error, was brought home when Foster singled.

Oldsters took the lead again in the seventh when they scored two runs against Youngsters' one. Minor Simundson scored off a double and Cliff Dahl after singling, came home as Lindsay got on base on an error.

In the bottom half of the 7th, Bruce Simundson was safe on a fielder's choice and scored off a single by Morgan, bringing in the Youngsters' only run for the inning.

Cliff Dahl, Old Timers' hard hitting third baseman clouted a single in the eighth that brought in two runs. Minor Simundson and Sev Dominato. Both Simundson and Dominato had singled. This brought Old Timers' side of the score sheet to seven runs.

The Youngsters got their fifth and final run in the 8th when Pavlikis, who had singled, was brought home Boyo Gurvich who made first on an infield error.

In the Oldsters' portion of the 9th, McKinnon singled past shortstop and Windle walked. McKinnon scored on a bad throw from left field to home plate and Windle came in when Kerr was walked.

Rosedale pitched four innings for Old Timers, then was succeeded by Lindsay who was credited with the victory. Rosedale faced 17 men, struck out four, allowed two hits and one base on balls. Two runs were also scored off him.

Lindsay pitched to 24 men, struck out seven and allowed six hits and three runs.

Alex Bill went the distance for the Youngsters facing 41 men, striking out five and allowing 15 hits.

The Youngsters left 10 men on base during the game while the Old Timers left 11.

There were two double plays, one on each side, Morgan-to-Davis in the first inning for the Youngsters and Calderoni-to-Dominato-to-Dahl in the third.

SOCIAL SECURITY

would distribute the burden equitably among all groups, exemptions being written in so that the lower income groups would not be unduly hurt.

Municipalities would receive one-third of the estimated annual yield of $12,000,000 and social services would receive the remaining two-thirds or $8,000,000.

"I say this, in emphasizing the point, that, unless provincial revenues had been increased, it would have been impossible to have maintained social services, including old age pensions benefits, at the level to which the people have become accustomed and to which this government feels they are entitled.

"How much more impossible it would have been to have advanced social services or to have increased pensions and allowances, must be obvious had it not been for the decision to implement this idea of a social security tax.

"As it is, and with the new revenues we contemplate, a steadily expanding social service and increased pensions and allowances as they become necessary and desirable are no longer out of reach.

"I am positive that the opposition to this form of taxation is colored by political opinion. I am equally sure that, viewed without bias and in the light of common sense, it will be accepted by the people of British Columbia as a progressive contribution to our peace of mind and general well-being."

KINSMEN MAY DAY PARADE

Hundreds of boys and girls, some in gay costumes, others in their Sunday-best, together with crowds of adults, turned out yesterday to take part in the Kinsmen celebrations. Everyone had hoped that Old Sol would appear for the occasion in his shining best but for most of the day he sulked in a mantle of grey.

However, dull skies and a sprinkle of rain were not to dampen the festive spirit. The parade started off on schedule with tiny clowns, fairies, pixies, cowboys and characters out of story books leading the procession. Along with them went children pushing elaborately decorated bicycles, tricycles, doll buggies and scooters or pulling ornamented wagons.

As the floats rolled along Third Avenue there was applause from those lining the streets for Queen-Elect Barbara Ball, who drove by with her princesses and for retiring Queen Alice Nickerson, attended by four dancing girls on the May Queen float.

First prize for the best float in the one-ton or over class was awarded by Judges E. T. Applewhite, F. E. Anfield and G. L. Rorie to the Conrad Street Boy Scout and Cub groups.

The boys had constructed a full scale foot-bridge, bound with ropes. It crossed a silvery stream that was apparently well stocked with fish. Second prize was awarded to the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative exhibit, featuring a realistic-looking halibut boat fitted with goose neck line shute, dinky, flagged buoys, pilot house, mast and manned by a sleeker-garbed fisherman who had some fresh halibut on board. There was a legend alluding to the record shortness of the season.

The second entry of the Conrad Street Scouts and Cubs groups won third prize. It was a float depicting a camp scene. King Edward School won the prize for the best decorated car.

Kelly-Douglas float did not win a prize but it gained a lot of popularity from the children when Clowns Benny Windle and Louis Van Pykstra climbed on the vehicle and began throwing candies and hats to the crowd.

Would Have More Radio Operators

OTTAWA, P.—James Sinclair, Liberal-North Vancouver, sought unsuccessfully in Parliament yesterday to make it obligatory for passenger vessels on the Pacific Coast to carry wireless operators if travelling more than 90 miles from a public harbor.

Teams of collectors for the new Nurses' Home fund brought in $3,810 in the first day after the campaign started. H. L. Campbell, manager of the drive, said that, if every person in the city gave $5, the fund would be subscribed satisfactorily.

The city's mill rate for 1923 was set at 43.611. It was divided as follows: general, 19.585 mills; schools, 11.500 mills and debenture debts 12.517 mills. Total money to be raised was $215,524.

E. H. Shockley was awarded a contract to build a bridge across Hays Creek at a contract price of $13,020. His bid was the lowest of three: Council adopted a money bylaw authorizing an expenditure up to $23,000 for the project.
