In order to place the actual position of the firemen on the record of the hearing, Mr. Brown questioned Mr. Ewart on some of the points in the brief after Judge Fulton commented that: "I cannot conscientiously make a finding in fact on the basis of the brief alone."

Documents which provided echnical material for the brief were placed at the disposal of the city's advocate after it was mutually decided that this would be a less time-consuming procedure than having the court wade through the pile of government and other reports from which it was drawn.
