

Civic Centre is Fashion Centre as Latest Styles Shown at Cambrai Tea

Beauty and style highlighted the glamorous parade of fall fashions displayed yesterday afternoon before a large audience of interested ladies who attended the fall fashion show presented in the Civic Centre auditorium by the Cambrai Chapter of the I.O.D.E. in co-operation with the management of Sweet Sixteen store and Brownwood's.

Graceful and lovely models, parading to piano selections provided by Andy McNaughton, charmingly exhibited a variety of the latest creations in ladies' wear.

Accenting youth, Mona Lykegard, Nina Youngman, Lorraine Youngman, Margaret Brain and Evelyn Bussey displayed an intriguing selection of garments that ranged from twin-sweater sets and skirt combinations to coats with cape collars of fur. The young mannequins, with their air of easy grace received appreciative applause each time they appeared in a new ensemble.

Featuring selections from the wardrobe of career girl and matron were Mrs. Stan Saville, Mrs. Thomas Fraser, Mrs. William Noble and Mrs. W. Bussey. Here the audience was treated to a look at luxurious fur coats, distinctive dinner dresses, theatre suits and many other designs that have been planned for the well-dressed lady. Those present accorded enthusiastic applause to all the graceful models exhibiting the beautiful styles.

Mrs. Sheila Chater, a member of the Sweet Sixteen staff, supplied the commentary during the fashion show. In a capable manner she described each of the 26 costumes worn by the models, drawing particular attention to such distinctive features on some of the dresses as peplums, bustles and the pencil slim skirts. Shoes worn by the models were provided by Brownwoods.

Romantic climax to the parade of lovely ladies in fine apparel was Evelyn Bussey as a bride in an ivory satin gown with sweetheart neckline and short flared peplum. Her charming bridesmaids, Nina and Lorraine Youngman, wore mauve and primrose taffeta gowns.

Before and during the fashion show the ladies of the Cambrai Chapter served delicious refreshments. Presiding at the tea and coffee table was Mrs. F. M. Kempton and Mrs. J. A. Teng. Those serving were Mrs. Jack McRae, Mrs. Duncan McRae, Mrs. Robert Parker Miss Vivian Wrathall, Mrs. Bruce Wilson and Mrs. W. R. Young. The committee in charge of the catering were Mrs. T. A. McMeekin, Mrs. G. G. Withers, Mrs. W. A. McBroom and Mrs. Phillip Lyons. Mrs. W. F. Stone presided at the door.

Following the fashion display, Mrs. C. G. Ham, regent of Cambrai Chapter, thanked Mrs. G. Stromdahl, manageress of Sweet Sixteen, her staff, Brownwoods, Andy McNaughton and all others who contributed to the

B.C., Alaska 'friendly neighbors'

JUNEAU, Alaska—Governor Ernest Gruening of Alaska at the opening of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia and affiliated Chambers of Commerce convention here Wednesday which he described as "an auspicious event staged between friendly neighbors in a good old fashioned Anglo-Saxon manner," expressed hope that it would contribute a part towards the perfecting in times of peace that perfect relationship which had been developed in time of crisis.

The governor was referring to the use to which Prince Rupert had been put in time of crisis of war as the strategic port of embarkation for Alaska.

"Paradoxically," he observed, "this relationship functioned in time of danger better than in times of security."

The port of Prince Rupert and the central interior of British Columbia could well serve to better advantage Alaska, and the United States, Gruening asserted in the establishment of a wholesome regionalism which need not develop into harmful sectionalism.

He referred to the handicaps of long distance and red tape under which these regions "on the periphery of things" suffered and called for unity of effort in meeting common problems.

When one section lags the whole unit is endangered, declared the governor as he alluded to the two great areas which were gathered democratically and internationally to iron out their common problems.

The international body already consisting of 16 British Columbia boards and seven Alaskan admitted three new member boards—Fort St. James, Atlin and Whitehorse. Thus the Yukon receives its first representation. The Atlin and Whitehorse boards offered resolutions asking for the building of a road to connect Atlin with the Alaska Highway and for the improvement along permanent lines of the main Alaska Highway.

The convention was opened by Dr. L. M. Greene of Smithers, the president, who gave as the outstanding economic event of the past year in central British Columbia the advent of the Celanese Corporation of America acetate pulp mill operation at Port Edward which would change the whole economy of the area.

Mayor Waino Herickson of Juneau and President McLean of the Juneau Board of Trade added their voice of welcome to the party of 70 visitors from British Columbia which was joined here by delegates from Haines and Ketchikan.

Four past presidents of the Associated Boards are in attendance and each were heard briefly at opening, George McAdams of Terrace, J. T. Harvey, Prince Rupert; F. M. Dockrill, Telkwa, and J. W. H. Day, Vanderhoof.

Mr. Dockrill recalled that his first visit to Juneau had been in February, 1899.

Messages were read from several cabinet ministers both at Ottawa and Victoria including Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

One minute silence was observed out of respect to the memory of the late Louis Lebourdais, former M.L.A. for Cariboo, who died since last convention.

J. T. Gawthrop, Victoria, regional director of development, spoke for the Department of Trade and Commerce and the federal government.

H. W. Knapp, Seattle, brought greetings of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association.

Wednesday afternoon the convention went into consideration of 21 resolutions approved by the resolutions committee headed by J. T. Harvey of Prince Rupert.

Presidents and secretaries of visiting boards of trade were entertained at luncheon Wednesday by the Juneau Chamber of Commerce. Later a sight-seeing drive followed by a gubernatorial reception. Tonight the warmth of the reception being accorded by Juneau to the epochal international gathering is matched only by the warm, sunny weather of this Alaska capital city.
