YULETIDE FUND TO BENEFIT BY THEATRE PLAYS

Prince Rupert Little Theatre's latest producetions, "Hot Water' and "Sleepy Time Down South" a dual bill which charmed a Civic Centre audience a couple of weeks ago will make a repeat performanec on December 19 in aid of a worthy cause.

Under sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, proceeds from the performance will be turned over completely to the Salvation Army Christmas Cheer fund.

The Little Theatre group has agreed to repeat the bill in aid of the fund and ticket sales and promotion are being handled by Junior Chamber members.

For the last several years the Junior Chamber has raised funds for the Salvation Army and other causes at Christmas time by sponsoring a radio auction, a project which was dropped this year.

IS TRANSFERRED FROM STEWART

John Thompson, who has for the past 17 years been accountant in the Stewart office of the Northern British Columbia Power Co., arrived on the Cardena yesterday from the north to join the head office of the company in the purchasing department here.

Mr. Thompson will be missed at Stewart as he was very active in the social life of the community and as a commissioner of the village. He was also active in Masonic circles, being a past master of Enoch Lodge. As president of the Parent-Teacher Association he was largely responsible for the installation of a projector for visual education at the Stewart school.

Mrs. Thompson and family will be coming from Stewart to join him sometime in the early spring of 1949.
