THIS AND THAT

Only two hands, count 'em!

quiring look at his boss, and barked.

Scores of windows were smashed.

Prince Rupert was today repairing the damage caused by wind which was one of the most violent of the season whooping up officially to 54 mile an hour gusts. It shattered window glass throughout the city and caused cancellation of afternoon classes at Booth Memorial High School.

The southeast gale began in the early morning hours of Monday and reached its peak velocity between noon and 3 p.m., according to the Digby Island weather station.

No major damage was reported, although three plate glass windows in Third Avenue business places were smashed by its force as well as scores of smaller panes in city homes.

Accompanied by a 40-degree temperature, the violent wind melted the six-weeks' old blanket of snow, reducing sidewalks to sheets of water-covered ice that made walking the most treacherous occupation of the day.

Literally dozens of people received bruises and other injuries from falls when the wind pushed against them on the icy streets.

Scaffolding cloaking the south side of Booth Memorial High School, which has been under repair since last summer, was blown down by the gale. Striking the large windows sent glass flying into the classrooms on that side of the building. Classes were cancelled during the afternoon for fear of injury to the children.

A plate glass window at the front of the Unemployment Insurance Commission office, sucked out by a vacuum created by two gusts, tumbled outward and almost injured a woman and child who had sought shelter in the doorway.

Two other Third Avenue business places had display windows broken by the gale. They were the Rupert People's Store and W. F. Stone Ltd.

In the late afternoon, the gale was joined by rainfall which further helped reduce the snow and ice level. The rain continued until 4 o'clock this morning, with 45 inches falling during the 12 hour period.

During the hours of darkness, the gale reduced in force to 30 miles an hour, and this morning was little more than a light breeze.

Coming from the southeast, the waterfront floats along the harbor were protected, although the harbor itself was whipped up to a foaming froth in exposed places.

Another gale is forecast for tonight.

ON WATERFRONT

Backlash of the gale broke off a dolphin at the Armour Salvage Co. floats, endangering boats moored there briefly. The wharf was soon made fast, however. Today piles are being driven again at the seaward end of the float.

The wind did a small amount of damage to the roof of Lindsay's Garage on Second Avenue.

NEW REVISION COURT NAMED

Prince Rupert's 1949 city council elected a five-man Court of Revision last night to consider appeals against property assessments. Members of the Court, which will sit in the spring, are Alderman H. M. Daggett, Alderman T. B. Black, Alderman G. W. Rudderham, Alderman H. S. Whalen, Alderman J. N. Forman.

Reminiscences and Reflections By W.J.

Summing it all up, if every body found it necessary to go through another Christmas and New Year within the next few weeks, who would find it not only tiresome, but also exhausting—physically and financially?

During 1948, no fewer than 1,008 hours of sunshine beamed on Prince Rupert. Oh, the intoxicating joy of reveling in such brightness and warmth! Speaking personally, a sun helmet was not worn but one did acquire a rich tan. It made folks look twice and register curiosity. Sometimes, shaving, one had to move cautiously.

Chiang Kai-Shek should refrain from making any resolutions, pious or otherwise. Too risky, no matter what line he takes! He can't afford to make any pledge or promise to Chiang or anyone else.

The fellows who stampeded to a place called California a century ago were not the only 'forty-niners in world history. We admit being only a hundred years late and rather shy on a gacer gold yet, nevertheless, it come within the general classification.

Powerful gusts, whistling through Prince Rupert are all right, in a way. They blow the cobwebs and general mustiness out of one's system and work a good freshening effect. But they might be felt at some time other than when the rain-washed street were a glaze of uncommonly smooth ice.

A test of super salesmanship appeared in the United States last week. It's a large quantity of red neckties, each bearing a portrait of Thomas E. Dewey. The goods had been ordered many months ago, the general idea being that they would be suitable for wear at the Republican inauguration.

The venerable Alaska steamer Victoria, bringing in fish products for transshipment over Canadian National Railways, is due in port at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Ketchikan and other ports.

NEW YEAR NEW HOPES NEW JOBS NEW OPPORTUNITIES

In many ways the most favored part of Canada, British Columbia enters the New Year with new problems to solve, new challenges to meet, new opportunities to develop.

Taking stock of our position we might well remember these things:

- 1 Ours is the fastest growing province in Canada.
- 2 We need to attract outside capital to make jobs for our new citizens—but we ourselves in British Columbia are more competent than in the past to finance and manage our own industrial and commercial expansion based on our rich resources. We must invest, venture and show enterprise.
- 3 Despite uncertainties and fears, the energy and initiative of people around the world have attacked war damage and reduced shortages, but demand for goods and services remains urgent. Greater abundance for the greatest number must be our goal.
- 4 We must do our part to re-build normal world trade by buying from our customers, keeping our prices competitive, improving the quality of our products.
- 5 High living standards are impossible without good machinery. British Columbia industrial management and employees will benefit by constant improvement in the machinery of production.

During the fiscal year 1949, H. R. MacMillan Export Company Limited and its subsidiaries plan to make new capital expenditures in excess of $8,750,000.

This company has progressed by practicing, insofar as it could, the policies above set forth. It has done the greater part of its business competitively with world suppliers in distant lands, has sold to the Canadian market at prices generally below world prices, has reinvested more than 88 per cent of its net profits in British Columbia job-creating enterprises and has borrowed on its credit to finance new projects making more efficient use of the forest resources it converts to useful products.

To its more than 5000 employees, its customers and the citizens of British Columbia, who benefit by vigorous enterprise, it pledges a continuance of these policies.
