BEN HOGAN DOING WELL

EL PASO, TEXAS.—Hospital authorities here said today that Ben Hogan, king of United States golfers, who suffered a fractured pelvis and broken arm in an automobile collision on Thursday, was doing fine. At first, it was feared that he might have had a broken back. The collision between Hogan's car and a bus occurred near Van Horn, Texas, 200 miles southeast of here. Mrs. Hogan, herself also hurt, said Hogan's action in throwing himself in front of her to protect her probably saved his own life. The steering wheel from under which he dodged, buried itself in the back seat. She said that the bus pulled out when coming towards them to pass a truck and they had no chance.

BROAD SURVEY OF NORTH SEA

By CHARLES CROOT
COPENHAGEN (Reuters)—Large-scale and detailed plans have been drawn up here for a thorough exploration of the North Sea, in the hope of discovering the answers to questions which are puzzling Europe's fishing fleets. Some of the questions which experts of six nations will pool their knowledge to answer are:
1. Why do certain varieties of fish suddenly disappear from areas in which they have been found for years?
2. How much of the water in the North Sea comes from where—and when does it come?
3. Are fish in the North Sea changing their feeding grounds?
The plans for the survey were drawn up at a recent meeting here of the International Council for the Exploration of the North Sea. For the purpose of this survey, six areas of the North Sea will be examined by the appropriate one of the six participants in the survey—England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Holland. The work will be carried out by the fishery research vessels, lightships and some of the weather ships stationed in the Atlantic.
WIDESPREAD SURVEY
A survey of the North Sea, according to the experts, must start in the Atlantic, the southern Arctic and the Baltic. Water from each of these areas flows into the North Sea and each has very different properties. Some is warm and some cold; some is salt and some only slightly salt. A survey of the precise nature of various waters entering the area would, it was stated, provide a clue from which it may prove possible to deduce the movement of the North Sea fishing grounds. Temperatures of water all over the North Sea will be recorded at various depths and samples of water will be taken at regular and close intervals. These samples will be examined for oxygen, salt and other chemical content. It is upon this content that depends the growth of marine plants on which fish feed. Prof. H. W. Ahlmann, well-known Swedish glaciologist, who first discovered that ice and glaciers of northern Scandinavia and the Arctic were melting and retreating towards the pole, was one of the scientists who addressed the international council. He said that there had been climatic changes which had brought to Denmark 25 species of bird which had never been known so far north before. In Greenland, he said, increased temperatures had become particularly noticeable. This had caused certain mammals, such as the seal—the Eskimo's main food supply—to retire to colder districts further north. Of interest to the fishing industries was the fact that higher sea temperatures had resulted in enormous catches of cod off Greenland. He added that cold streams from the melting Greenland glaciers, similar to those which had driven herring from Icelandic waters, were threatening the cod fishery along the Norwegian coast.

Sport Shots
The hockey world was shocked at the death of Frank Calder, 65, president of the National Hockey League, six years ago today, who was stricken with a heart attack while attending a N.H.L. meeting in Toronto. His death removed the outstanding figure in the development of the world's greatest professional hockey league. Eight members of the Ottawa Rough Riders football club executive were suspended by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada 13 years ago as the result of the "great impersonation" of Roy Berry by Bohn Hilliard, an American player, the previous fall. Later on the executive was reinstated.

Play-Offs Are Near

Drum beating in hockey leagues—selection of players.
By KEN METHERAL
Canadian Professional Hockey League—Selection of Players
CALGARY.—The hour of drum beating for hockey play-offs is at hand. The first week of February serves notice that most hockey leagues have about a month to run before settling into the playoff grid and preliminary studies a thought about all-star teams.
The next few weeks, predicts Bob "Calgary Herald" Bennett, will have everyone who has seen more than three games watching his mythical roster.
And to start off the selection with a flourish on the left-hand drum, Bob has today listed a "picked at random" roster for the Western Canada Senior Hockey League.
For the all-important preliminary choice, Bob nominated Russ Derrill, veteran goalie with Calgary Stampede. He provided Derrill with a large defense in Pete Swanson, player coach of Lethbridge Maple Leafs and Edmond "Pete" Bod McFeterson, whose leading play earned him a recent upset with Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League.
To handle the post-game assignment, Bob named Bill Kyle and Al McDonald, of Regina Capitals and the league's leading scorer, Dunc Grant of Calgary. Kyle had seven assists, centre, right wing and left wing spots, respectively.
Named in the proper order of goalie, driver, center, right and left wing.
