of effort, some of the special implements now on the market will be found invaluable. For working around closely-planted flower beds, or in the rows of smaller vegetables like carrots, beets and onions, a short handled, two or thre pronged cultivator, not much bigger than a table fork, is useful. Where the space is more ample, a similar cultivator, but larger and with a long handle to eliminate backbreaking, will be a good invest-

Special Tools—It is a good plan to have a couple of hoes of different size or perhaps one regular garden hoe and a Dutch type hoe. The latter, which is shaped like the letter "D" is one of the very best tools for killing weeds and grass under shrubs and trailing plants and for leaving a fine mulch behind. ■ Until one gets used to it, however, one should be careful as it will slice off good and bad tivator and possibly also a next federal election. small disk or harrow, these machines thoroughly cultivate a few favorite flowers.
