LLOYDS REJECTS SPORTING RISK

WRANGELL—Basketball teams when they go a-touring, cannot always get themselves insured, even if they do sport lovely new whisks.

There is a general impression that Lloyds of London will insure most anything—but they draw the line at Wrangell basketball players.

It appears, when a big match was on the cards, between the Stikine Stampede and the Wrangell All-Stars, in commemoration of the Stikine River gold rush days, Lloyds declined to do business. Lloyds could not see the way clear to write up policies for one hour's play but had no objection to taking care of the attending crowd.

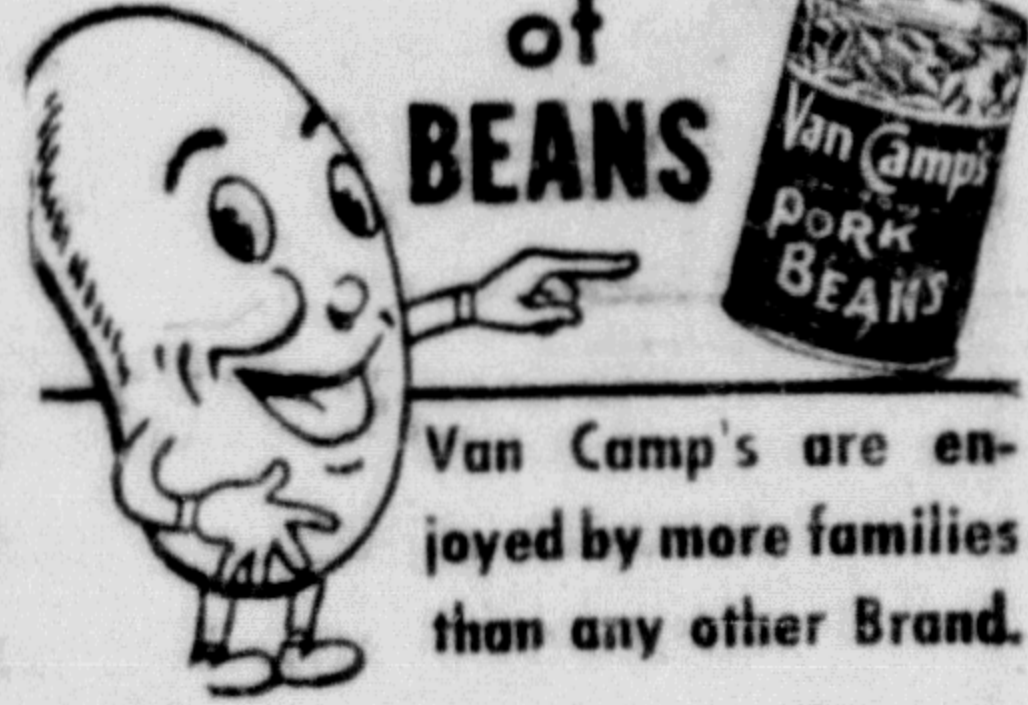

Practically all of the players, while not exactly strange to basketball, had neither played nor practised it for 20 years.

HAGBLAD IS HIT BY FIRE AGAIN

Ted Hagblad, whose Hotel Central fire in Prince Rupert last fall was one of the biggest ever seen here, has had another bad blaze—this time down in southern British Columbia. It was also a hotel fire.

After leaving Prince Rupert, Mr. Hagblad located in Oliver, starting the Oliver Hotel. The outbreak was caused by sparks from the outside igniting the roof of the hotel over the beer parlor. The building was not destroyed but between the effects of fire, smoke and water a lot of damage was done.

Mr. Hagblad, it is understood will make the necessary repairs and carry on.

The conflagration that wiped out the Hotel Central in Prince Rupert made a clean sweep and no developments have been noticed since to indicate any plans for rebuilding.
