Top Shriners Visitors Here

International Past Potentates of the Order of the Mystic Shrine from various cities in the United States, Mexico and Canada, led by Herman L. Englehardt of Oakland, cruise director and secretary of the Cabiri, and their party, numbering ninety in all, comprised a special Alaska cruise group which called here yesterday morning northbound on the steamer Chilcotin. They were greeted by a reception committee from the Prince Rupert Shrine Club headed by Vice-President C. A. Berner and were invited to a reception to be held next Thursday evening when the group calls again southbound.

Past Potentates in the party were Edward R. Bennett of El Korah Temple, Boise, Idaho; Dr. George W. Cramer, Al Kaly Temple, Pueblo, Colorado; George Dullig and Dr. William H. Wallace, Alzefar Temple, San Antonio; William S. Durkin, Anezh Temple, Mexico City; Herman Englehardt, Ahmes Temple, Oakland; Paul D. Green, Hillah Temple, Eugene, Oregon; Jackson J. Hagen and Otto Hampe, Moolah Temple, St. Louis; Elbert L. Lenox, Hillah Temple, Medford, Oregon; Hugo H. Sweeney, Mohammed Temple, Peoria, Illinois; L. Beecher McSwain, Egypt Temple, Tampa, Florida; James G. Peterson, Zor Temple, LaCrosse, Michigan; Dr. Kenneth Phillips, Mahi Temple, Miami, Florida; Joseph Titley, El Kalah Temple, Ogden, Utah; Ben S. Turner, El Maida Temple, El Paso, Texas; Harold A. Thompson, Mount Sinai Temple, Burlington, Vermont; Archibald West, El Azhar Temple, Edmonton, and Dr. Egbert A. Warden, Zor Temple, Janesville, Illinois.

Queen Charlotte City Is Thriving

Reopening to fishing of the salmon seining areas on the west coast of the Queen Charlotte Islands is expected give a filip to business at Queen Charlotte City, said W. J. Davies, well known business man there and former manager of Canadian National Telegraphs here, who was a visitor in the city the latter part of last week. There are indications that there has been a substantial rebuilding of the salmon run in that area after the long closure which was imposed when the fish there almost reached the disappearing point. Results of trolling for spring salmon and coho so far this season have been encouraging.

Mr. Davies reported the logging industry on the Queen Charlotte still buoyant and contributing to the economy of the Islands.

He stated that the United Church has purchased the hospital buildings at the old Royal Canadian Air Force wartime base at Aliford Bay, across the Inlet from Queen Charlotte, and would be moving it to Queen Charlotte to augment the hospital accommodation there. Queen Charlotte has become the hospital centre for the Queen Charlottes.

L. H. Taylor, secretary of the Customs division, Ottawa, arrived in the city yesterday morning aboard the Princess Louise. After a short time in the local office, he visited some of the local industries in the city and at Port Edward and Watson Island. He left on last night's train for Edmonton.

New Municipal Officers Named

Resolutions from Prince Rupert and other city and village municipalities in the jurisdiction were dealt with at a meeting of the Northern British Columbia Municipal Association held last Thursday at Smithers and from which Mayor G. W. Rudderham, Ald. T. B. Black, Ald. H. F. Glassey and City Clerk H. D. Thain returned at the week-end by car.

Dudley G. Little of Terrace was elected president of the Association to succeed Cecil Steele, M.L.A. of Burns Lake. Mayor Garvin Dezell of Prince George is the new vice-president. H. D. Thain of Prince Rupert is secretary-treasurer.

Another meeting of the Association will be held September 15 at Prince George prior to the annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities to be held September 19, 20 and 21 in Nelson.

A dinner at the Bulkley Hotel was the entertainment feature of the Smithers meeting to which the delegates, besides those from Prince Rupert, were Mayor Dezell and Ald. Harold Assman of Prince George; Commissioner D. G. Little and Municipal Clerk A. Harmon of Terrace, and Commissioners Stanley Gould, Kenneth Warner and Harvey Davies of Smithers.

Are Honored At St. Peter's

Archdeacon and Mrs. E. Hodson, who leave shortly to take over St. Matthew's Parish in Terrace, were honored at a gathering given by church members in St. Peter's Church Hall Sunday evening.

A. Duffus, the people's warden, presented Mr. and Mrs. Hodson with a purse as a token of the esteem in which they are held by parishioners of St. Peter's Church where Archdeacon Hodson has been rector for the last four years. W. B. Skinner, rector's warden, expressed regret of the church and community at his leaving and wished him every success in his new parish.

A bouquet of carnations was presented to Mrs. Hodson by members of the Senior Women's Auxiliary in tribute to her work in the church and W.A.

During the evening refreshments were served under the convenship of Mrs. W. B. Skinner.
