Art Ross, elected last week to the hockey hall of fame, still holds the distinction of the highest paid player in hockey. Years ago Ross, now vice-president and general manager of Boston Bruins, received $1,000 for two games to play with Cobalt against their hated rivals, Haileybury.

This distinction of Ross is recalled by Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson who says the two newly-rich northern Ontario towns in those days were "so hockey-mad they essayed roles in the major league." But, says Ferguson, it is not because of this financial accomplishment that Ross deserves the honor of a place in the Hall of Fame.

"Ross deserves the spot because of his own playing feats, which were remarkable, and even more so for the fashion in which he pioneered the first invasion of hockey in the United States:

"POST OFFICE" AT REBEKAH BAZAAR

The Oddfellows' Hall was a cheerful centre of activity Wednesday afternoon during the Fall bazaar and sale sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge. Mrs. J. W. McKinley, district deputy president, received the guests.

A novel attraction was the "post office," where a number of wrapped parcels, contributed by other Rebekah Lodges in the province were on sale. Selections were made by the purchasers on a "blind" basis which added to the interest. Mrs. Thomas Priest and Mrs. J. Delorme were in charge of the stall.

In the tea room were Mrs. Alex Barbe, Mrs. H. V. Tattersal and Mrs. Stevens. Serveurs were Mrs. Angus Gillis, Mrs. Rose Healy and Mrs. W. A. McLean.

At the pouring table were Mrs. W. McKinley, Mrs. W. S. Hammond and Mrs. J. Simpson.

In charge of the home cooking booth were Mrs. S. L. Peacey and Mrs. J. S. Irvine while the apron stall was under charge of Mrs. J. E. Boddie and Mrs. B. Gammon. Mrs. George Howe and Mrs. William McLeod were in charge of the rancy work. Mrs. R. Halloch was fortune teller for the afternoon. Cashier was Mrs. Bruce Love, sr.

Mrs. A. M. Budinich left by air today on a trip to Vancouver, accompanying her mother, Mrs. W. E. Collison, who has been visiting here for some time.
