"NEW LOOK" HITS NAVY

Snappier Uniforms Combine Style, Comfort and Practicality

OTTAWA, © — The "New Look" has hit the Navy. Improved style, comfort and practicality are features of new uniforms designed for both officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy, details of which were announced today by Naval Headquarters. In all cases where new designs are contemplated, the accent is on tailoring to make for a snappier uniform.

Major change is the introduction of khaki uniforms for Chief Petty Officers, First and Second Class. This will be worn during the summer months in Canada and in the tropics, and will replace, except for ceremonial occasions, the white uniform (tunic and trousers) formerly worn by these men.

The seaman's jumper, in both the blue uniform and summer whites, will be modified to include a front opening with concealed zipper closure and "hung" sleeves which provide a better fit across shoulders and chest.

Tropical uniform (white shorts, open-neck shirts or tropical vests, and socks) has been abolished, and in its place officers will wear khaki shorts and shirts. Men will be issued with blue denim shorts, to provide a working dress for tropical use.

Officers' khaki uniforms, in use for several years, will be altered slightly in pattern.

Both summer and winter uniforms in the new styles will be tailored from material especially chosen to meet the specific requirements of each type of dress.

New khaki uniforms for both officers and men will be made from lightweight wool rayon, a material similar to tropical worsted. They will be worn with khaki shirt and black tie, socks and shoes. Officers' rank will be denoted by shoulder straps. Chief Petty Officers and Petty Officers will wear rating and branch badges in red. Under appropriate circumstances, this uniform may be worn without jacket and tie.

Seaman's dress uniforms in the new style will be tailored in a botany serge, a material now

PIPING OIL IS COSTLY THING

LONDON, Ont. — Nearly 500 miles of 16-inch pipe to carry oil from Edmonton to Regina will probably be under construction in a southern Ontario steel plant by summer, John R. White, vice-president of Imperial Oil Ltd., told a service club. The pipeline is expected to cost $25,000,000 and will contain 70,000 tons of steel.
