On the other hand, the remainder of a cake, when stale, makes an excellent trifle or may be freshened for cottage pudding by steaming. Gingerbread may be treated in the same way.

The quantity of pastry usually given is for a nine-inch pie. This will make a small pie and an extra pie shell or six small tarts. Tart shells will keep for several days and may be served with varied fillings.

Baked custards are a good twosome dessert. One egg and one cup of milk makes two servings of custard. Variety in custards may be given by the or dried fruits or a little grated chocolate.

Small-sized cans of fruits or vegetables are a boon to the small household but large cans are proportionately cheaper. Casserole and creamed dishes make good second appearance

SPRING TEA BY

The Easter motif was in evidence at a spring tea and sale sponsored by the ladies of the Orange Lodge in the Oddfellows' Hall Wednesday afternoon. Stalls and tables were prettily decorated with Easter designs, lending a bright spring atmosphere to the room.

Guests were received by Mrs. Harry Paulson, Worshipful Mistress of the Lodge. Convener was Mrs. A. E. Evans. The teal room was under charge of Mrs. Frank Ellison, Mrs. George Howe, Mrs. E. Mulder, Mrs. A. Lund and Mrs. L. Traquair.

Mrs. William Way, Mrs. W. Field, and Mrs. A. Taylor. Cashier was Mrs. H. Killin.
