SALADA TEA BAGS

called, "on May 24." But, he went on, during some years it was not possible because early potatoes had to be seeded before the land dried up.

"It always seemed to dry up on the 24th of May."

Judge Fulton recalled how during one year a scheme to persuade their father to let them go fishing was concocted by him and his brother. His brother composed a poem which, after being read at the supper table, prompted their father to say, "All right, you can go." On that trip, re related, they went to a little creek, built a fire and had lunch.

Apparently the fire was still going when they left, he said, for the whole countryside was later ablaze.

The Judge came west as a young man and decided to obtain a job with the C.P.R. and work his way up to the presidency.

But, he added, he took another road, "I can assure you though," he slyly added, "that if I would have been employed by the C.P.R. after all these years, I would have become president."

New members introduced were Fire Chief Earl Becker and O. C. Odegaard.

The can of salmon awarded to a Rotary member or guest from the farthest away point was presented to H. M. Whitman, accountant of the Royal Bank across the street.

Const. Pat Gurr of the city detachment, B.C. Police, left on escort duties for Vancouver aboard the Prince George on Thursday night. Mrs. Gurr accompanied him.

along the Buyways

(Every week something new appears on the shelves of the stores and business houses of Prince Rupert and through this column the Daily News will try and keep you up to date on just what's new in Rupert.)

Next week is National Sew and Save week and the many merchants of the city will be putting on special campaigns to promote the week. Most housewives will go right on Sewing and try to Save as they have done during the past 52 weeks but for requirements in patterns, threads, notions etc., the Variety Store is a safe bet.

But, hold everything, another cooking revolution is taking place with appearance of French's Instant Potato in Prince Rupert. Believe it or not it takes just one minute to make the creamiest most appetizing mashed potatoes you have ever tasted. No washing. No peeling. No cooking. No mashing and it is economical. All grocers are featuring French's Instant Potato this week.

More new foods than anything else seems to be appearing on the shelves of Prince Rupert merchants. The latest for the money saving thrifty housewife is a new line of peaches being offered at exceptionally low cost this week at Johnson's Grocery on Hays Cove Avenue.

The new 1950 Pontiac is the driving sensation of the nation. New refined styling, further advanced performance and Oh, what a pleasure to drive. Even on the Rupert Roads. They are now at Long Motors.

VETERAN TEACHER FIRED—Leo Guindon, 59, president of Montreal's French-speaking Alliance of Catholic Teachers, has been dismissed by the city's Catholic School Commission for "insubordination and misconduct." The fiery, little teacher and union leader, on leave of absence from classroom duties while he conducted Alliance affairs, refused to return to teaching. Mr. Guindon led 2,000 Catholic teachers in a 10-day strike in Montreal a year ago. (C.P. Photo)
