A United States Army helicopter spotted footprints, leading to the west coast of the 1,104-square mile island, at dusk yesterday but dwindling fuel supply forced the aircraft to turn back without investigating.

There were no further clues or signs up to noon today, according to a radiophone conversation which brought the search progress up to date.

The Canadian Fishing Co.'s fish packer Cape Perry sighted two of them on the beach on Wednesday morning and soon picked up ten men from that vicinity.

A 60-mile gale and heavy rain was hampering the search today. Thirty men of the Canadian Army were flown to the scene yesterday.

Harold Winch Is Critical

Social Leader of Opposition Has His Day in Legislature

VICTORIA.—Opposition Leader Harold Winch opened debate on the Speech from the Throne in the House yesterday by attacking the health insurance scheme of the province and unemployment throughout British Columbia. He demanded that all correspondence passing between Minister of Health George S. Pearson and former Commissioner Dr. J. M. Hershey in the hospital insurance scheme be tabled in the House. Dr. Hershey resigned late in December.

Mr. Winch emphasized that hospital insurance was here to stay despite opposition of insurance companies and some members of the Medical profession. Bad weather was not the cause of all the unemployment now prevailing in British Columbia, Winch said. There was no provision for those not on unemployment insurance or those receiving social welfare assistance. Mr. Winch told the Legislature this was another example of private enterprise failing to find jobs in peacetime.

Private enterprise can provide full employment only in war time, he continued. "Private enterprise can provide everything in time of war. In time of peace it cannot provide the essentials of life." Premier Byron Johnson interrupted to say that Ottawa had paid out in unemployment insurance and family allowances in this province in December and January the sum of $6,600,000. Between 90 and 95 percent of the unemployed registering in those months had jobs to go to at the present time.

Prince Rupert Sitting Close To Good Oil, Says Operator

Prince Rupert very definitely has the possibility of becoming a good oil town but the people here do not seem to realize it, says Garson C. Mitchell, veteran independent oil operator, who is now scouting in this area. He arrived from Vancouver by plane on Tuesday and left yesterday for Queen Charlotte Islands—his destination there "unknown."

Mr. Mitchell expressed confidence that oil would be struck in this area in the near future. "Prince Rupert is sitting close to some oil lands as nice as any in the province. They are not necessarily as far from the city even as the Queen Charlotte Islands but could be on the mainland near here."

French Strike Calls Ignored

PARIS.—Country-wide railroad and coal strikes, ordered today by Communist unions in protest at the unloading of United States arms in France, were said by a government official today to have been "nearly a total failure."

Are Brighter in United Kingdom, Visiting Official Says

Mr. Storey's Association had fought what he described as an "extremely serious" tendency to substitute other materials for timber in Britain. The attitude of the British government towards timber had changed materially in the last eighteen months, he said. "Now they are beginning to realize its true importance."

Nowhere on the continent was so wide a service given for so reasonable a premium. During the session questions about administration of hospital insurance will be dealt with by Minister of Health Pearson, Mr. Johnson said. He added: "government will overlook no opportunity to strengthen the plan and maintain as high a service as possible 'at the lowest possible premium.'"
