Quiet Wedding In Vancouver

Miss Leah Basso-Bert and Robert McKay jr. United

A popular Prince Rupert couple, both of whom were born in the city, were married quietly in Vancouver recently and, after a honeymoon tour of Vancouver Island, have returned to the city to make their home.

They are the former Miss Leah Basso-Bert only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Basso-Bert, Biggar Place and Robert (Joe) McKay, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McKay, Eleventh Avenue. Both are members of prominent pioneer families.

The marriage took place quietly on September 17 at a Vancouver United Church with Rev. J.
P. Westman officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Ian Black of Vancouver were attendants of the couple.

Following the ceremony, the occasion was duly celebrated at the Commodore Cabaret.
The couple drove home to Prince Rupert following the honeymoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay will take up residence at 1020 First Avenue where they will have the hearty congratulations and best wishes of their many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clifton, who have been spending the summer at Sunnyside cannery, sailed on the Catala last evening, the former going to Alert Bay and the latter to her home at Hartley Bay.

After a ten-day visit here with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Amad-io, Sixth Avenue West, Mike De Fabio left by Monday afternoon's plane on his return to Richmond, California.

LOWER LIVING COSTS SOUGHT

OTTAWA, ©.—Housing conditions and the cost of living came under heavy fire yesterday at the Canadian Congress of Labor convention which adopted a series of proposals aimed at bringing down living costs.

A demand for a national low-cost, low-rent housing program came before the convention also but this resolution was temporarily shelved for amendment. It will be adopted later.

To reduce living costs, the 800-man convention called for re-imposition of price controls, restoration of rental controls at wartime effectiveness, payment of federal subsidies on milk, bread and other staples.

No Time To Get Ready

Ernest Bevin Sounds Warning
at Ottawa

OTTAWA—In the opinion of Britain's Foreign Secretary Bevin it would be "a mistaken policy" for even North America to assume she would have a long period to nourish and build strength after war starts. That concept, he said in Ottawa yesterday, passed into discard with the Second World War. It was made obsolete by air power. The democracies "can no longer keep light forces to contain an enemy and then build up as Britain did for years."
