Let's Help Nature

ITS the same old spring this year - lots of talk of the green buds bursting, the beautiful gardens we'll all have, if everything comes up, and the fact that summer is just around the corner. Yes, it's the same old spring with the damp, unsettled weather, one or two bright days to give fresh hope to lagging spirits, and the inevitable spring colds.

Spring is much overrated as far as weather and health are concerned. But it does carry with it the promise of better things to come. The fact that "hope springs eternal in the human heart" may have something to do with our yearning after the good things'spring is supposed to hold in store.

One thing is certain, we get out of life what we put into it, and the same is true of springtime. If we look upon it as the time when Nature does a bit of refurbishing, and pitch in ourselves we're bound to get something from this pleasant season. If we just sit back in the hope that Nature will do the entire job, we'll be into summer and once again spring will have fallen far short of expectations.

We must give Nature a helping hand. Of course, there's always digging to be done, and seeds to be planted, but this year why not put a little extra something into the gardening program? There's probably a fence that needs patching up and painting or an old tool shed that's been an eyesore for years, and threatens momentarily to fall down. Why not pullit down? You'll be surprised at the extra space you'll have in the garden, and most of the stuff you had stored in the shed was junk after all. A bonfire is indicated, and once you get it going you'll be encounaged to clean out all the odds and ends in the basement that have accumulated over the long winter months.

We all have our approach to these jobs when we get down to them, but most of the time we tend to procrastinate. A community campaign, sponsored by the city council or some organization (the Junier Chamber of Commerce often does it) is a great asset in overcoming the mental block which prevents us from doing something about all these tiresome chares. It seems to be easier to get down to repairing the back porch stairs that have been gradually wearing out from old age, and touching them up with a spot of paint, if we can say, "Well, the Beautification Campaign starts on May 13-that day I'll get that new board in the stairs, and the next day I'll paint them."

Yes, a schedule is a wonderful thing. Nature operates on a pretty rigid one, and seems to get fair results. Of course, she's been around a long time, and can get along quite satisfactorily without our assistance—but it's surprising how much better job she does when we lend a helping hand.

STAND ON JAPANESE

Editor, Daily News The organization I represent would appreciate a publication of the following explanation of the United Fishermen and Allied Worker's Union's position on return of the Japanese to the fishing industry. We feel it necessary that our decisions on this question be made more public in view of apparent confusion. This confusion exists not only among tishermen and employees of its various operations but among the general public and its political representatives.

The 1949 Convention of the UFAWU, representing the vast majority of those in the industry and seating a majority of fishermen delegates, passed a motion on this subject unanimously. Briefly the motion states that we do not urge a return of the Japanese or an entrance of any other group or individual to an overcrowded industry. However, while licensing is not limited, we do not intend to take steps that would prevent the Japanese returning to Receive Doctorate Rev. E. A. Wright, former min- consider the Japanese has the ister at St. Andrew's Church, same basic rights as any other MONTREAL O-The Presby- Sherbrooke, Que. He is now Canadian including the right to his living in the industry he chooses. The Union has urged in the past a quota on licenses in order to protect the interests of those men who follow the fishing as their sole means of livelihood, under no circumstances can this be interpreted as a restrction or a violation on the rights of any individual or group because of color or creed.

The secretary of the Canadian Japanese Association was present at that 1949 Convention and gave support of his organization to the motion. The two organizations have acted in harmony since. As they re-enter the industry the UFAWU will recruit the Japanese fishermen to the Union and he will bear the same responsibility as other members and receive the same privileges. We are confident our position is a correct one. The Japanese fishermen will support the Union and with its strength the fishing companies will be unable to take advantage of a racial question to lower the standards in the fishing industry.
