N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

Suitable for construction anywhere in Canada, this two-bedroom bungalow strikes a modern note and should prove an attractive house in any suburban area. With full basement, living room, kitchen-dining room, bathroom and a total of six closets and storage closets, it is complete in every way. Designed by M. G. Dixon, B. Arch., M.R.A.I.C., Ottawa, it answers the living needs of the small family.

The vestibule affords protection and includes space for hanging coats. The hall gives access to the living room on the right and the kitchen on the left.

Of ample size, the living room could be finished according to a variety of styles to suit the owner's individual taste. The kitchen is well laid out and includes a dining alcove which is just the place for family meals. By providing an access panel, the dining table could be moved from kitchen to living room as required. Direct access to the basement and service entrance is provided from the kitchen.

The bedrooms are large, have cross ventilation and clothes closets of exceptional size. The master bedroom has double closets while a linen closet is located in the bathroom. The storage closet in the living room should prove very useful, a handy place for such items as the card table, games and vacuum cleaner.

The house should face south as provision has been made by means of ample roof projection over the living room windows to take advantage of solar heating in winter and to provide shade from the direct sun in the summer.

The drawings show frame construction but the dimensions are so arranged that the house may be finished in veneer or solid masonry. The area of this house for estimating purposes is 807 square feet. The exterior dimensions are 31 feet 4 inches by 24 feet 4 inches and the minimum required lot width is 40 feet, without driveway.

OTTAWA ARMY NURSE SENT TO NORTHLAND

EDMONTON — A pretty brunette Ottawa girl is embarking on a new career as the second Canadian girl to join the army as a nurse since the Second World War.

She is Gloria Caldwell, who comes from a soldiering family and has been posted to Whitehorse, Y.T., deep in the Canadian northland. Miss Caldwell isn't sure just what prompted her to join the army but thinks perhaps it is the fact that her father is a major in the Royal Canadian Medical Corps and her brother is training at the Royal Canadian School of Military Engineering at Chilliwack, B.C.

The fact that her best friend, Lois Froid, also of Ottawa, was the first girl to join the army as a nurse since the end of the war may also have had some bearing on Miss Caldwell's choice.

Never very far north or west of Ottawa, Miss Caldwell thinks the idea of a sojourn in Whitehorse intriguing. She said she doesn't like snow or cold weather but like a good soldier thinks she will get used to them WILLING TO TRAVEL

"I'm game for anything—I love travel and I'm willing to go anywhere," she said when she stopped off here enroute to her new posting more than 1,000 miles northwest of Edmonton.

At Whitehorse, Miss Caldwell will have lots to keep her busy. There are seven other nurses and three doctors at the 50-bed hospital which looks after military personnel, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, government employees and emergency civilian cases.

At 23, Miss Caldwell has packed a lot of training into a short space of time. She graduated from the Oshawa, Ont., General Hospital, in 1947, and took post graduate training at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Specially trained in obstetrics and gynecology, Miss Caldwell's knowledge of these subjects will come in handy at Whitehorse where an average of 100 babies are born at the hospital each month.

LONGEST-WED BRITONS?
LONDON — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Parsons, 91 and 93, who celebrated their 73rd wedding anniversary in December, believe they are Britain's longest-married couple.

THIS AND THAT

The George Matthew Adams Service, Inc.

"Whose turn is it to go crazy trying to dress me?"

Reminiscences and Reflections

Each, according to his way of thinking, Prince Rupert has plenty of folk who decline to wear a hat, no matter how enchanting or how merciless the weather is. And another fellow will wear his cap, even though soaking, through the dinner or lunch hour.

During the war, Prince Rupert's population, counting the local armed forces was approximately twice what it is today. There developed, of course, a traffic problem. With the approach, today, of industrial expansion, the same difficulty will return, perhaps in a more aggravated form, for it is certain the number of cars is not decreasing. It all comes down to the fact that as time goes on Prince Rupert will have to become used to doing shopping in a larger business area, and think of their city not remaining forever, between McBride and Sixth Streets.

Doctors and nurses all over the continent are finding it next thing to impossible to credit the story told by a Detroit woman. It seems the lady mistook a maternity case for just an ordinary cold. She came home from work not feeling very well. Her husband diagnosed the trouble as a cold in the back, and recommended a hot bath and bed. There is this much about it, Friend Husband may as well realize that if he is thinking of specializing in obstetrics, he should give the matter serious reconsideration.

Copies of the New York Herald-Tribune, which issue devotes pages of space to Canada, have been received in Prince Rupert. Written in a readable, yet matter-of-fact way, the special tells all about Canadian industrial expansion and resources. The Herald-Tribune is performing a valuable service, and some day, Canada will be discovered in full.

Radio brought broadcasts, and the latter ushered in the golden age of the commentators who, as a rule, possess rich voices, and when not certain of some statements, fall back on that good old standby "as asserted by an informed source." Millions drink it in. By the time the average man has absorbed several hours of the flow of words he knows a little about a whole lot, doubts the rest, feels a headache coming on, and is conscious of an ever mounting uneasiness and fear, along with a fresh crop of suspicion.

Winding up the Donald McLeod estate in New Hazelton, the Omnesca Herald print a long list of lots, and district properties. It has a familiar look, and reminds one strongly of how money was made in Prince Rupert (not the hard way) during the early, juicy days.

BURNS NIGHT PLANS COMPLETE

Members of the Prince Rupert Burns Club were out in force last night at a meeting held in the Civic Centre. Under the chairmanship of President J. A. Frew the meeting worked out the final plans for the annual Burns Night banquet to be held at the Commodore Cafe, January 25.
