This column has aiready sur gested the desirability of football executive calling meeting and the need for taking an active part in organizing the game. Last evening's "game" provided the proof of such need. The game was not advertised and the players did no know if the game was on or not High School players telephoned the official referee and he told them that he knew nothing about the game. He himself which they appeared, the total was not up at the ground and the game was not scheduled and there seems justification 5 31 3 0 1.000 for the High School to protest

S Wilson said it reminded him of the hymnbook, "Hymns (hims) ancient and modern." Is it the first time that "father and two sons have played on a senior team in the same match?.

And then Donnie Nelson was persuaded into refereeing and he had no whistle. So often sport lags because there are no players available even when the officials may be doing their best, but football this year owes all its success to the players.
