N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

This small bungalow offers a maximum in convenience for the family requiring no more than two bedrooms. Of pleasing and straight-forward design, it contains, in addition to the two bedrooms, a large living room with dining area, a kitchen of moderate size and a bathroom.

The front entrance opens into a vestibule, containing a coat closet, and leads into the living room. It should be noted that adequate closet space is also provided in the bedrooms. The service entrance is situated between the kitchen and dining area and opens onto the basement entrance.

The compact kitchen is adjacent to the bathroom, cutting plumbing costs to a minimum.

While the working drawings show one window in the front of the living room, the owner of the house illustrated changed the design to include a bay window and, at the same time, projected the roof to protect the front entrance.

The floor area, for estimating purposes, is 681 square feet while the outside dimensions are 28 feet by 24 feet, four inches.

INVESTIGATION OF BREAKWATER

Plans are now out for the breakwater to be built in connection with the fishermen's floats at Fairview Bay on the west end of the Prince Rupert waterfront but more investigations are required before construction can commence, it is stated by C. F. P. Faulkner, assistant district engineer for the federal department of public works, who is a visitor in the city on official business. Efforts are being made to speed the preliminaries so that construction may start with a minimum of further delay.
