Indian Troops Are Advancing In Hyderabad

Second City Of Rich State Is Now Captured

NEW DELHI (CP)—Aurangabad, Hyderabad's second city, has fallen to invading Indian troops, an Indian defence ministry spokesman said today. He said the city surrendered without a shot being fired. Occupation of Aurangabad, together with the capture yesterday of Daulatabad, Jauna, gives the Army control of virtually the entire northwest corner of Hyderabad. He declared that the Indian troops were encountering no opposition from civil authorities or the populace.

India threw parachute troops into the invasion of Hyderabad today and captured Homnabad, 84 miles from the capital.

Eden urged the United Nations to act quickly in Hyderabad, the conflict in which might lead to communal warfare throughout India on a scale never before known. He saw the communist pattern in latest developments in India.

BEVIN FORTHRIGHT

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was even more forthright. He pictured southeast Asia as a "hotbed of communism." Communist activities in Malaya, Burma and Siam he saw as part of a Communist campaign to seize control in that part of the world.

Is Concerned About India

LONDON (Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, former Conservative Foreign Secretary, spoke today on the international situation before the House of Parliament which is digesting yesterday's rearmament pronouncement. ## Moving Out Of Premier STEWART — Monday of this week appears to have witnessed the final ringing down of the curtain on the operations of the Silbak-Premier mine. J. G. Pearcey, manager, J. C. McCutcheon, mine superintendent, Otto Hornel, and Alfie Teed, shift bosses, left that day. Pete Svedberg, the other shift boss, is slated to leave next week.

Mr. Pearcey and Mr. Hunt intend to motor from Prince Rupert visiting various mining districts. Wells and Barkerville are on their itinerary.

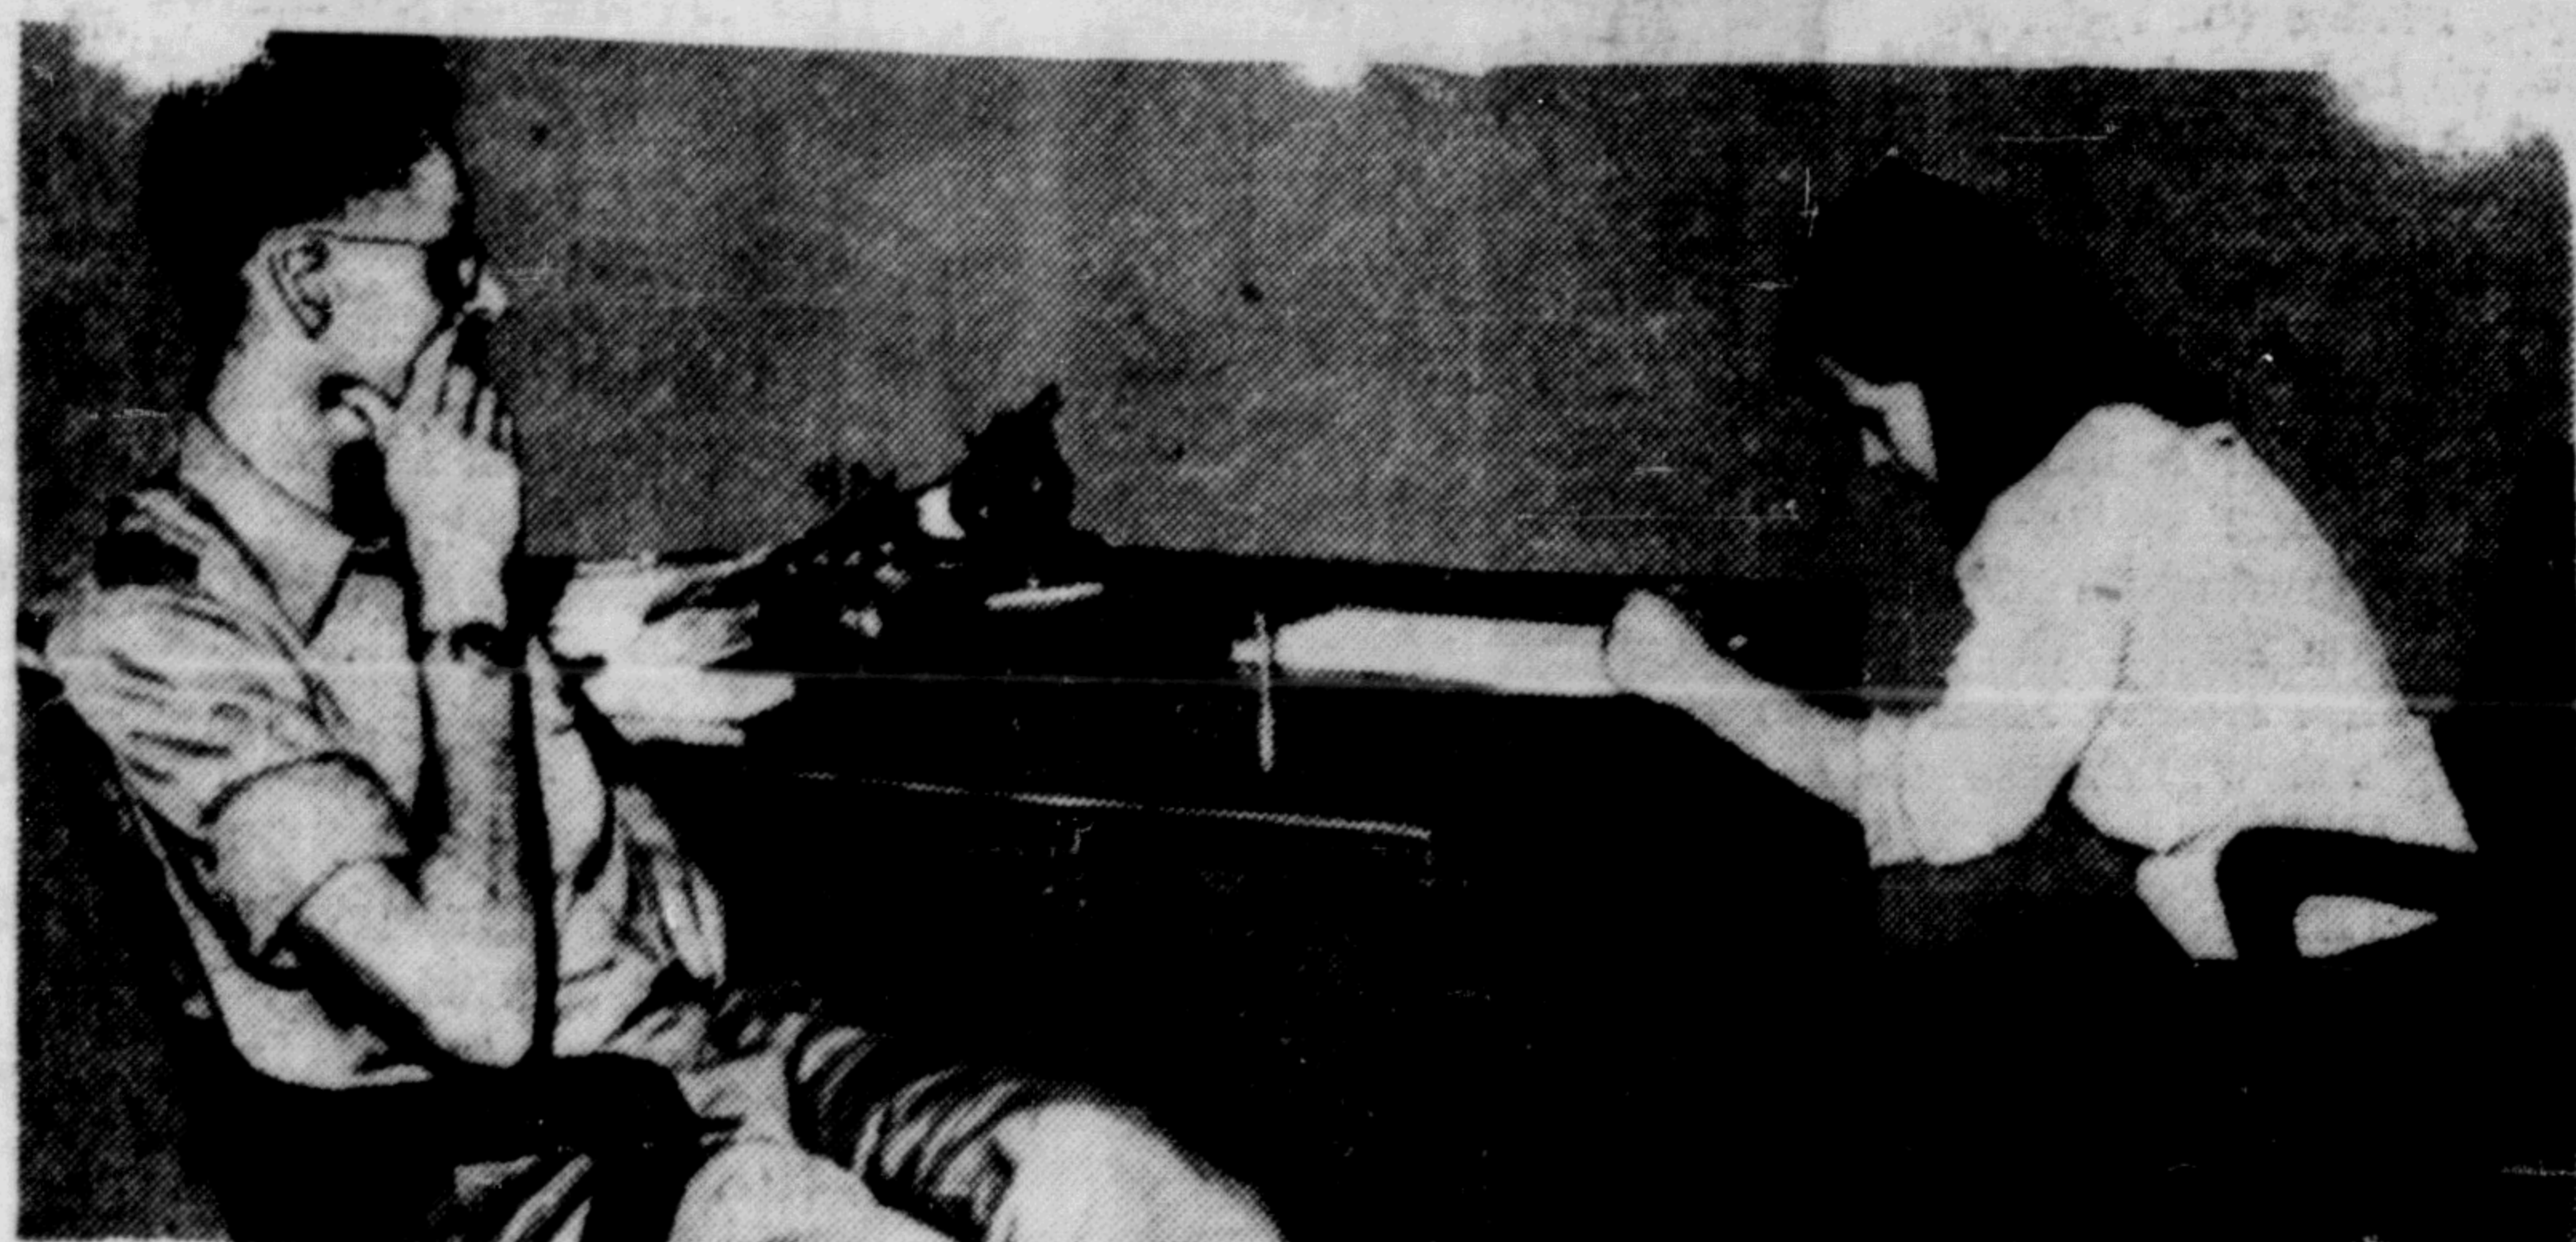

Mr. McCutcheon and the shifters are on their way to another property.

Meanwhile the Riverside mine on the Alaskan side continues to carry on with a full crew and is making shipments of their product, tungsten ore, every few weeks. Crawford Transfer Co. have the hauling contract. Al Kirby, late of Silbak-Premier is in charge of operations.

Excellent results are being obtained on the Silver Tip group where contractors are working under the direction of George Winkler.

Work is also continuing on the Phillips property at Tide Lake and at the Morris Summit.

BLACK MARKET FOR WORKERS

Acute Shortage of Skilled Labor and Technicians in Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (V)—Shortage of skilled labor and technicians is causing a "black market" in labor in Australia.

Employers are forced to compete with each other for available manpower and many are offering wages much higher than the rates laid down by the Arbitration Board, the ruling body that fixes all wages in Australia.

One factory has a standing offer of a $32 bonus to any employee who brings in a new worker. It also provides free bus transportation to all employees who live distant from the plant. Many other factories offer similar inducements.

Messenger boys and girls are one of the greatest problems. To get boys and girls as they leave school, business firms and factories offer free training courses. One Sydney firm this week offered free bicycles to boys who would join the staff and stay for at least a year as messengers.

The manager of this firm said the offer wasn't bringing direct results but three boys had called and promised to "think it over."

A leading industrialist said that neither he nor anyone else dared offend the messenger boy—"that mighty midget who has the commercial life of Sydney in the palm of his grubby hand."

Some employers are endeavoring to have the Federal Arbitration Court return workers to a 48-hour week in place of the present 40-hour week. Metal trades employers have served notice on 20 unions that they intend to seek re-introduction of the longer working week.

The unions are expected to counter this with a claim for a 35-hour week, with increased holiday pay and other amendments.

Immigration Minister Arthur Caldwell, speaking of the need for increased population, said there were about 250,000 jobs in Australia waiting to be filled.

Approaches to the bridges will be graded, levelled and surfaced at the same time. The next block west on Third Avenue will be filled at the curbs and graded to bring it up to the level of the improved portion of the Avenue.

The amount of work that will be accomplished before winter depends on whether the gravel comes up to specifications or not and whether the weather remains fair or not.
