PLACED UNDERGROUND - Native Torontonians think singe dappearance of College Street over the past few Mrs. McNeil ter pictures show College between Bay and Yonge, on the #looked last fall and on the right as it looks today. The mappearance was brought about by placing the overhead wiring underground and removing the old cross-armed poles. It's all part of a city and hydro-planned policy to wiring in the downtown area underground over the next years and give Toronto a place alongside London, Ont., treal, Canada's two leading cities in this movement.
