IMPRESSED WITH PRINCE RUPERT

Noting a remarkable change in Prince Rupert since last here in 1936, and looking forward to a return visit, Stewart Slater, supreme auditor of the Loyal Order of Moose, left Friday evening on his return to Toronto, where the head office is located. His home city is Hamilton.
Mr. Slater remarked he had greatly enjoyed his western trip and sojourn in the city.
The growth of Prince Rupert in thirteen years had been along substantial lines and he was confident this would steadily expand as time went on. An old friend is B. J. Bacon who, with other pioneer L.O.L. members were glad of the opportunity to meet him again.
