Disturbing Japanese

and the farming industries.

TAPANESE PEOPLE who were evacuated from I the coastal areas during the war have become contentedly and prosperously settled in the interior of the province. Now, under a sudden provincial government ruling, ousting them from the lumbering industry in which they have become established, they would be pulled up from the roots again. The logical thing to expect next is that they will be heading back to the coast again as soon as they can re-enter, if they are permitted, the fishing

Apart possibly from some industrial interests who might feel they could again use the Japanese to good advantage although they have been able to get along without them for some years, there is certainly no general desire to bring the Japanese back to this coast. Why the government could not leave well enough alone and let these people remain where they are is something that a lot of people will wonder. To start chasing them from pillar to post for no apparent reason would appear to be needlessly stirring up a situation which seemed to have been fairly permanently resolved.

> Just in case, would'nt it be advisable for the government to work out a method of printing curency on edible paper?

FOREIGN LEGIO

STRENGTHENE

THIS IS AN EMERGENCY

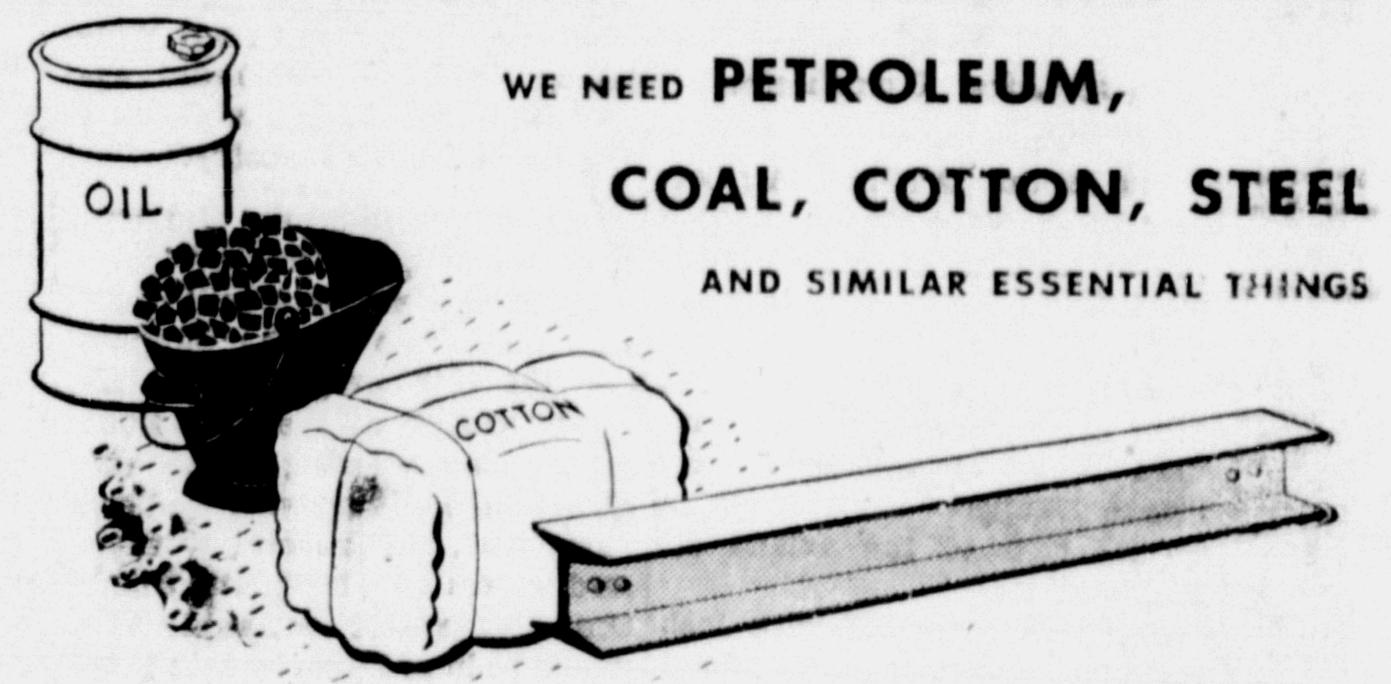

...let's treat it as such!

SANADA is heavily "in the red" in present trading with the U.S. dollar area. In our total trade with the world we are in a good position but not in that part which is done with the U.S. dollar countries. Other countries with whom we do business cannot pay us in full, either in cash or in goods, for the things they buy from us.

This situation is made more serious than ever before because so many countries, our regular customers, have not recovered from the war. It may be some time yet before they get on their feet sufficiently to help put things right: Meantime, we must find ways and means of balancing our own books and reducing our U.S. dollar deficit.

There are two things we can do at the moment ... cut down unnecessary purchases from the U.S. dollar area and increase our production of goods that can be sold to those countries to balance accounts. It's an emergency and should be treated as such.

TO KEEP OUR INDUSTRIES HUMMING ... OUR LIVING STANDARD HIGH

WE CAN PAY FOR THESE THINGS IF WE CURTAIL OUR SPENDING ON IMPORTED NON-ESSENTIALS OR TRIMMINGS ... AT LEAST FOR AWHILE

- 1. Do not order goods by mail from other countries . . . do not buy goods to bring home when you travel outside Canada. See also Item 2.
- 2. If you feel some purchase is absolutely essential, see your Collector of Customs and Excise beforehand to learn whether the item is prohibited. 3. Look for alternatives or substitutes for the items which are temporarily prohibited:
- 4. If certain goods seem to be in short supply, do not overlook the possibility that it is seasonal, or merely a local condition or perhaps brought about by entirely unnecessary buying.
- Excise before pursuing any inquiry. Quote this number in all correspondence. 6. IF WE TACKLE THIS PROBLEM IN THE SAME SPIRIT OF CO-OPERATION DEM-ONSTRATED DURING THE WAR YEARS IT CAN BE SOLVED WITH LONG-TERM
