Russia Backs Down

MITH CRISIS following crisis and irritation V following irritiation, Russia, it has been long since apparent, is following a policy of endeavouring to achieve her ends by all methods short of war. The events of Berlin during the last few days suggests that the Soviet, when faced with real determination such as the stand taken by Britain and the United States against the transport restrictions, will back up. She might have gained her ends even there if appeasement had been continued. But her bluff was called and she soon gave way. Possibly these events around Berlin have cleared the air to some extent. Maybe there may be further easing of the war of nerves. It seems a little firmness on our side may settle the atmosphere.

In any case, it is encouraging to note that Russia is showing signs of being a little more conciliatory.

HONORING GOOD CITIZEN

MAZE WRITE editorials about good citizens after YY they pass on. People pay tribute and send flowers to their funerals. It has even been suggested that monuments be erected.

It is unfortunate maybe that we wait until good citizens are dead before we think of honoring and eulogizing them. How much more happy it would be if we did express our appreciation while they are still alive and could derive the pleasure of recog-

It is a nice custom that some cities and communities have of choosing an annual "Good Citizen" and honoring him or her in some way. It need not be a costly thing to do. An elaborate gift need not be given. Possibly some appropriate Prince Rupert organization might interest itself in the "Good Citizen" award idea.

WARNING AND EVIDENCE

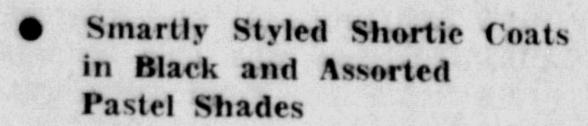

ERBERT MORRISON, leader of the Labor party majority in the House of Commons, is not given to light speech, nor has he been, even distantly, a war-monger. His stern warning, therefore, to a Labor rally at Grimsby is startlingly blunt. In appealing for middle class support for the Labor party—"the intelligent, level-headed Left," he urged that the trade unions should be alert to prevent "Fascist - Communists" from capturing their unions by the familiar approach of "minority p.m. conspiracies."

"Let Socialist simpletons who urge co-operation with communists take warning," Mr. Morrison said. "Czechoslovakia today proves that Communists are enemies to parliamentary or any other kind of | April 27-ss. Princess Louise democracy, that they will stoop to any depth of p.m. blackmail or violence in their attempt to seize power."

The untimely and tragic end of Jan Masaryk, whether by his own hand or another's, gives point to Mr. Morrison's warning. It removed the carefully built pretence that Masaryk's retention in the Czech parliament was of his own free will, and evidenced his belief in the legality and constitutionality of the Communist coup. For Masaryk there was, it would appear, the alternative of removing himself or being removed. Which it was, history may disclose.

Finland too is following the pattern of Mr. Morrison's warning, with local Communist vigilantes invading the Finnish diet and threatening the members who had opposed the Soviet pact. .Or other groups storming the newspaper offices and warning that any articles critical of the pact, must cease. There is the warning, and there is the evidence.

Chamber Gains Many Members

No less than 21 new members were admitted to the Prince Rupert Champer of Commerce through acceptance of their applications at the regular monthly meeting of the Chamber last night. Last night's admissions made a total of 32 new members gained by the Chamber during the past six weeks. In addition to these, W. J. Scott, energetic chairman of the membership committee, informed the meeting that he expected to soon have 15 or 20 more new members. A round of applause acknowledged the good work of Mr. Scott.

The new members admitted last night were Oscar Havroy, L. Basso-Bert, Carl Poulson, Fred Scadden, Sydney D. Johnston, Robert K. Elkins, William S. Kergin, Patrick K. Deane, P. H. Linzey, Victor Grant, H. B. M. Valentin, Bert E. Morgan, James W. Rogerson, D. W. G. Stewart, Norman Campbell, A. E. Smith, Wilfred J. McLean, Lee M. Gordon, Gunnar Anderson, Robert Parker, Gordon Clark.

New members attending for the first time last night and duly welcomed by the chairman, Dr. R. G. Large, were E. H. Hicks and Peter Gamula.

Guests of the evening were Stuart Furk and Harold Helgerson, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

About 40 Chamber members were in attendance. Dinner was served in the Civic Centre dining room and a two-hour business session in the common lounge ensued.

Business of the meeting in cluded such matters as dissemi nation of national affairs litera ture, the local radio broadcasting situation, automobile insurance, the new provincial sales tax, disposal of waterfront installations, dredging of harbors and sand bars for the benefit of fishermen, representation at Vancouver Exhibition and the elevator situation.

Polaris-Taku Becoming One of B.C.'s Biggest Mines

Development and production work continues at the mine of the Polaris-Taku Mining Company at Tulsequah. There has already been the installation of new equipment and this will mean that more than 12,000 tons of concentrates will be brought from the mine this year.

This will be about 4,000 tons in excess of what it was last year. An announcement to this effect has been made by Frank McPherson, manager of the company.

Not less than 200 men will be employed at the mine.

Six barges will be kept occupied with import of supplies and export of concentrates. During the winterf 180 men have been kept at work, despite heavy snowfalls. During the long daylight hours of June and July there will be double shifts.

George Beirnes and Simon Gun-a-Noot

Referring to the recent death of George Beirnes in the Kispiox Valley, a Vancouver paper says the deceased had taken an active part in the years of effort made by British Columbia authorities to find Simon Gun-a Noot, implicated in the shooting of Alex McIntosh and Max LeClaire, at Hazelton during the summer of 1906. For 13 years Gun-a-Noot remained in the wilds of northern Skeena Mr. Beirnes, the story says, managed to get in touch with the fugitive and it was largely through his advice and persuasion that he finally decided to give himself up. It was not long after this that he was freed. Some years ago Gun-a-Noot died at his camp not far from
