Reasonable Ideas for Housekeepers

HONORED EGGS ALWAYS GOOD
SOME NEW SERVING IDEAS

Eggs as food for has been recorded since history of man. before the time used eggs as tokens of all life and this then carried over into usage. as well as being one of the most generally used course dishes, are so that they are served in all courses. In the home-maker advantage of being able to grade and thus the best suited to her purse.

Consideration is usually given by producers and dealers to assure that eggs are offered to consumers in the best possible condition but when the eggs reach the kitchen they are often neglected. They should always be stored in a clean, cool place, preferably the refrigerator. Even the finest egg may be spoiled in cooking. High temperature toughens the albumen. The old picnic favorite, the "hardboiled egg" is quite out of style. Anyone who has compared one that has been cooked in rapidly boiling water with one cooked just below the boiling point, will prefer the up to date method and realize what the expression "hardboiled" means when applied to the "difficult" persons. Custards, baked slowly with the bowl set in a pan of water will be smooth and firm instead of honey-combed and watery. Home economists offer some new ideas for serving eggs.

Not only to say the right thing in the right place but far more difficult, to leave unsaid the wrong thing at the tempting moment.—George Augustus Sala.

A great amount of time is consumed in talking nothing, doing nothing, and indecision as to what one should do.—Mary Baker Eddy.

He that thinks he can never speak enough, may easily speak too much.—Quarles.

Talk often, but never long; in that case, if you do not please, at least you are sure not to tire your hearers.—Lord Chesterfield.

TRIBUTES TO STAN PARKER

Regretful reference to the recent passing of Stanley E. Parker and acknowledgment of his attributes as a good citizen was made on more than one occasion at the meeting of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. The secretary reported that there had been sympathetic correspondence with the widow following Mr. Parker's sudden death since the last meeting. "He was at least one business man who came at the beginning and stayed to the end, not just thinking of making his stake and getting out," commented Ald Robert McKay. "His good citizenship was something we might well think about."

Better Equipment For Snow Removal

For the highway committee J. E. Boddie produced pictures at last night's Chamber of Commerce meeting of the Skeena Highway under present snow conditions and pointed out that the trouble is largely due to the fact that the C.N. moves their snow off the railway onto the highway. He proposed preparation of a brief pointing out the necessity of providing proper equipment for snow removal. It was agreed to prepare such a brief and present it to the proper authorities.

Easing of Alaska Air Travel Asked

Transportation committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is still endeavouring to obtain from the federal authorities some relaxation of present regulations which make it difficult for aircraft from Alaska to land at Prince Rupert with traffic. W. F. Stone reported at last night's Chamber meeting on representations made but which had so far failed to receive even an answer from Ottawa.

THE UNDERWOOD
THE UNDERWOOD—Not a hint of the commonplace can you find in this attractive, four room cottage. The UNDERWOOD is a mellow house, pleasantly flavored with English cottage characteristics from the dove cote on the front gable to the hospitable trellised porch with its wide, deep seats. It's a warm, friendly kind of a home with its huge, squat chimney the focal point of the exterior and the cozy, brick fireplace the family centre of its well-planned interior.

The little front gable with flush siding above the entrance door gives the house the impression of clinging close to the ground, a desirable characteristic of the cottage type of architecture. Its wide bay of casement windows brings in light and air and add an unusually attractive note to the exterior. The large covered porch, 15 feet long by 10 feet wide, invites comfortable outdoor living. A garage may be attached to the opposite side of the house to balance the porch if desired.

The UNDERWOOD working drawings show a conventional, full basement with plenty of room for laundry tubs, storage, work shop or for a game room in which the youngsters can entertain their guests.

The living room is not large but ample. It is meant to be supplemented, whenever weather permits, by the porch that opens off it. The kitchen is an efficient straight-line or corridor type. The bedrooms have two-way ventilation. The childless couple or the family whose children have married and started homes of their own might very easily convert the front bedroom into a dining room or combination dining and guest room. In such a case it should have a door opening into the living room. If it is to be used solely as a bedroom this door should be left out.
