

Hobby Show Dates Set

To Be Held in Civic Centre Starting April 28—Interest Is Awakening

Prince Rupert's second annual hobby show, the first of which was such a stand-out success last year, has been set for April 28, 29 and 30 and May 1 and already preliminary arrangements for the affair are well under way. The show will be centralized in the large gymnasium of the Civic Centre and there is every indication, judging from the great measure of interest displayed last year when the idea was new, that the show will be even larger and more interesting this year.

Every variety of exhibit will be welcome, the only reservation being that nothing shown last year shall be entered again. There will be prizes this year for junior and Indian work in which there are already signs of keen competition.

Junior work whether done in or out of school, will be eligible and there will be donated prizes of various description including such articles as tools from local stores which were refused last year. Art, manual art and sewing work will be eligible as well as such out of school items as stamp collections, model airplanes and photography.

The Indian exhibits will be handled through the local Indian Agent's office which will assemble the offerings. Prizes will be awarded for such classifications as art and manual work, woodwork and carvings, slate totem poles, metal work, leather work, knitting and weaving, with particular interest in original native design.

Leatherwork will be conveyed by Mrs. Jens Munthe with a committee consisting of one teacher from each school taking charge of the display.

Entries, other than the Indian section, will be made from the Civic Centre where forms are available.

As an added attraction of great interest, arrangements have been made to bring to the city an art exhibit from the extension department of the University of British Columbia—a group of 24 paintings from the British Columbia artists' fall show.

Objects to Changes In Names of Ships

Speaking on behalf of Alaskans, Jessens Weekly of Fairbanks laments the growing practice of robbing steamers of their original names and replacing them with choices which the paper says are entirely unsatisfactory.

Before the war vessels known as the Kodiak, the Alameda, the Yakutat and the Northwestern plied between Seattle and the ports of the north. These, and others similar, were satisfactory for they had, at least, some suggestion of the north.

Doctor: "How is the young man who swallowed the half dollar?"
Nurse: "No change yet, doctor."

WARDEN WRITES PIONEER GAME

His interest attracted back by reading Dick Neuberger's article on Prince Rupert in the Daily News, Harry F. Martin, who was a game warden and provincial police officer here twenty years ago or more when Alex Minty was the chief, has written to the Daily News office from Brooklyn where he now resides, following the practice of physiotherapy. Mr. Martin is coming to Seattle in the spring and expects to open an office in the west. He suggests that he may include Prince Rupert in his trip in order to renew old acquaintances here.

Baptism of Interest Performed In South

Of interest to friends of pioneer days in Prince Rupert is the announcement of a christening ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church in Vancouver conducted by Rev. N. D. B. Larmouth. Richard Bruce Tremayne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ruston H. Goepel, was sponsored by Mrs. W. H. Hamilton, Mrs. R. A. Steifel of Battle Creek, Mich., and J. B. Kirkpatrick and F. T. Fraser. Grandparents of the baby are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Tremayne and Mrs. Percy A. Goepel. A reception for the family was held at the Osler Avenue home of the baby's parents.

The bride's table was lovely, covered with a lace cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake. The cake was beautifully decorated by Mrs. J. J. Gillis and flanked with tall pink tapers in silver sconces, and daffodils and tulips in silver holders. The cake was cut in traditional style by the bride and groom. Mrs. C. Nixon, in charge of delicious refreshments, was assisted by Mrs. R. Walker, Mrs. M. Alberts and Mrs. E. Denlock as serviteurs. The couple were recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts which testified to their popularity.

The groom is employed at the Co-op cold storage. Out of town guests were Mrs. Fred Majore of Fort Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, Edward Holmhouse, Lebre, Saskatchewan, Mrs. E. Campbell and Mrs. C. Simonds of U.S.K. B.C.
