INTERIOR NATIVES LAUD VOTE

KITWANGA—Assurances by provincial leaders that giving the vote to Indians will in no way interfere with their aboriginal rights were warmly received by natives of the upper Skeena at a meeting called by Harold Sinclair, district vice president of the Native Brotherhood of B. C.

Back from the nineteenth annual convention of the Brotherhood at Bella Coola, Mr. Sinclair carried copies of letters from Premier Byron I. Johnson and Minister of Lands and Forests, E. T. Kenney which stated that their primeval rights would be safeguarded in the fact of their advance toward citizenship.

After having heard the letters, the meeting expressed satisfaction at the assurances received and moved a vote of thanks to the government leaders and the Native Brotherhood of B. C. which had made continual representations for such a move.

It was viewed as an important milestone in the broadening of native rights.

Chief Harold Clifford, of Hazelton, told the meeting that "the door is now opened to us and a light is shining on the native people of this province."

The tribal elder pointed out that if his people were to develop this initial advance, they must prepare themselves for responsibilities which are part of citizenship. Education, he asserted, is vital and it is up to parents to make certain that their children take advantage of educational opportunities.

"Without education, we cannot express ourselves," he declared. "Let us encourage our children to regular school attendance so that they may become qualified to stand hand in hand with our fellow citizens."

Harold Sinclair urged that careful thought be given to election issues and that in casting their first vote, his people base their choice on their con-

Women's Institute Members Must Join Civic Centre—Tiny Baby Is Born

Every member of the Women's Institute will be required to be a member of the Civic Centre. This was decided at last Tuesday's meeting of the Institute after Mrs. Little gave her report of the Civic Centre directors' meeting. A full program of recreational activities is being arranged by the Centre's managing director and the co-operation of the organizations in town is needed to carry it out, hence the Institute's decision. Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Peake-Vout are to be in charge of the rest room for mothers operated by the Institute at the Civic Centre on May 24.

It being Agricultural Night, Mrs. T. Olsen gave an interesting talk on gardening and passed on some good garden hints. The flower contest was won by Mrs. Howlett and Mrs. Reynolds. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. D. Little and Mrs. Philip was chairman. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

At the Hospital Auxiliary meeting last Thursday evening plans were made for the June 4 tea.

Weeks of hard work for members of the Parent-Teachers' Association and school teaching staff will end on Friday next when the operetta "The Cobbler of Fairyland" will be produced at the Civic Centre. The elaborate costumes have been made by the P-T.A. members besides a fine assortment of paper flowers which will decorate the stage and which will be sold after the concert.

Fred Pulford of Vancouver, is visiting his cousin, Mrs. P. Murie of Terrace.

Participants in the forthcoming Music Festival in Prince Rupert are: Pianofore—Flora and Lorna Melvin, Robert Melvin, Marilyn de Kergommeaux, Gabrielle and Rose Marie Tetrault, Ivy Gillespie, Colleen Sites, Anita Brue and Perry Laird. These are the pupils of Mrs. Janet Telber. In the vocal class are Gloria Irving, Anita Brue, Ivy Gillespie, Allanna Cushing and Marilyn de Kergommeaux.

Dale Steffanson is a patient in the Outpost Hospital suffering from head injuries sustained when the truck in which he was descending the airport hill ran into the hillside and overturned. The other two occupants were uninjured.

Mrs. O. T. Sundal left last week for Vancouver where she will be joined next week by Mr. Sundal.

Analysis of Human Motion Efficiency Laws Bring Honor to United States Woman

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (C)—Dr. Lillian Gilbreth has an answer for women who complain the 24 hours of the day are too short for them.

It is "bear and raise 12 children, help your husband in his work; study for your doctor's degree in your spare time, write at least half a dozen books; and, just for good measure, go on a lecture tour now and then."

If you still find the day too short, add a few more duties and you'll be surprised to find everything will fit in somehow.

This amazing woman, who is still active at 70, holds the title of "Woman of the Year for 1948." The American Women's Association, in a national poll, made the award for eminent achievement in "discovering, recognizing and formulating the laws of human motion which in industry are accepted today as fundamental."

Dr. Gilbreth and her husband, the late Dr. Frank B. Gilbreth, are credited with pioneering in the field of scientific management and with launching the science of "motion study." The firm they established many years ago, Gilbreth, Inc., has served as efficiency expert for many big plants in the United States, Britain and Germany.

The Gilbreths devised a method of analyzing motion which they called "Therblig." Gilbreth spelled backwards with two letters transposed.

of motion or thought and there are 17 of them. Each is classified into an activity such as "search," "find," and "grasp." This motion-in-study was at first applied only toward making industrial jobs easier but recently Dr. Gilbreth has applied it to housework and to rehabilitating disabled persons.

A "heart" kitchen, for women suffering from heart trouble emphasizes functional storage utensils which should be placed at the centre of first use. Thus near a sink where vegetables are prepared there is storage for everything needed in the process—peeling and cutting utensils, strainers, sauce pans and vegetables.

A newly-published book "Cheaper by the Dozen," written by two of Dr. Gilbreth's children, explains how the "Therblig" system was first tried out on the children at home.

According to the book, Dr. Gilbreth and her husband decided soon after their marriage:

1. To have a family of six boys and six girls.
2. To establish a family council so the children would participate fully in family life.
3. To try all methods and devices of effective work which her husband had discovered in his many years of diversified industrial experience.

After Dr. Frank Gilbreth's death in 1924, his wife continued his work, even to taking
