PERISHES IN LONELY FIRE

QUEEN CHARLOTTE CITY—Story of a gruesome finding was told Saturday by R. E. Turner, fishery patrol man, at an inquiry held at Queen Charlotte City over the death of Benny Benson, Queen Charlotte City, whose badly burned and decomposed body was found on the beach near his cabin at Lockeport.

Deceased was an old-time prospector and miner, well known in the north. He lived for many years on Queen Charlotte Islands and held important gold and copper claims at Lockeport at the time of his death. He was employed by the Dominion Fisheries Department as creek guardian.

It is believed that a fire, which broke out in his cabin and destroyed four other houses, was responsible for his death. No other person was living at Lockeport at the time.

Miss Lillian Randall, R.N., and Miss Elizabeth Beck, R.N., both of Vancouver, are among round-trip passengers aboard the steamer Chilcoot which is in port this afternoon. Miss Randall is a niece of Mrs. Alex McRae and Mrs. G. A. Hunter of this city.
