Strike Illness

CUSPENSION of a railway system, when it's on I a continental scale, has its difficulties. An industry so vast, and entering so directly into the lives of everybody, including those who have their economic differences, cannot halt and stay that lilted into the comosition that way, so easily.

Actual stoppage creates an impossible situation. More than the movement of trains ceases. The country itself, with all that this implies, slows down. Health is affected. Business becomes benumbed. A crisis of this nature can be likened to the full and free circulation of blood, in a human being. When it is interfered with, the reaction is immediate and far reaching. If it stops, death comes. If trains fail to operate, the nation will not die, but a serious illness is certain.

OPPORTUNITY HERE

CHIPYARDS in Europe are booked up clear I through to 1952, announces Clarence Wallace, prominent in British Columbia ship construction. He is home from an extended business visit overseas, touring Britain, Belgium, Holland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and France. Mr. Wallace returns with a message. It is this:

If the government of Canada feels disposed to make the required financial arrangements, there is no reason at all why the shipyards of Canada cannot obtain plenty of contracts, and give employment for years to come. The thousands of vessels sent to the bottom in the Second Great War, must in whole or in part, be replaced. The opportunity is here.

CHECK CANADIAN MODEL FOR LONDON EXHIBIT - This model, which will be on display at the St. John Exhibition and Fair to be opened by Queen Elizabeth atSt. James' Palace in London on May 3, represents a typical Canadian winter scene with first aid post in conjunction with winter sports, particularly with ski trails. After being brought in from the hills by ambulance men the patient has been given treatment at the first aid post and is now being taken to the main highway for transportation to the city in an ambulance. The scene might be any one of many provinces as this type of public duty has become a major activity of the St. John Ambulance and is being carried out extensively across the dominion; shown with artist, Mrs. T. W. Gil-mour makes a final check before the model is shipped to London.

The exhibition will last for three days and it is expected that a Canadian St. John member of a nursing division will be on duty in uniform beside the model on each of the days.

Peter Lien, Bandsmen, Score Triumph In Latest Concert

By Harry Seaman

Like a triumphant Viking leading his ship's company through perils of the sea to calm home waters, Peter A. Lien last night conducted his bandsmen to the threshold of a new and encouraging phase of the band's history. Last night's inaugural concert in the Civic Centre gave official recognition to the passing of the Prince Rupert Civic Band and the beginning of the Shrine Club -

For the information of our advertisers, A.B.C. auditors make a complete, annual audit of our circulation

• Audited Distribution • for your Advertising

COOD advertising copy and attrac-Vive layouts are, of course, essential to the success of your advertising But from the standpoint of final results the answer depends upon the distribution of your advertising.

When you buy newspaper advertising you are paying for an opportunity to talk to people about your merchandise and service. What you get for your money, therefore, depends upon how many people there are in your audience, where they are, how this audience was obtained, and many other facts that indicate the value of the circulation as a market for what you have to sell.

In order that our advertisers may have this information and thus be able to invest in advertising in The Daily News on the basis of known, verified facts, we are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The Bureau is a national, co-operative association of publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Every year one of the trained auditors employed by the Bureau makes an audit of our circulation records. This audited information is issued in official A.B.C. reports covering each member publication. You avoid guesswork and speculation when you advertise in an A.B.C. newspaper.
