LONDON WEDDING NOW COSTS $350

Ruby Venn's Parents Got Married For $40, But Times Have Changed

LONDON — Dresses, reception, honeymoon—what does it all cost for a wedding in Britain these days?

Here is how the money problem was solved by attractive, dark-haired Ruby Venn—now Mrs. Ronald Carey—a typical London spring bride.

It was in January that Ruby became engaged and they started to make wedding preparations. Luckily, Ronald had an apartment, so that was one major problem disposed of.

Working from a plan in a magazine article, a clever aunt turned five yards of material—Ruby chose figured ivory satin—into a lovely gown, at a cost of a little over $15, 10 clothing coupons and two weeks work. Ruby's headdress and long veil cost $2.50 but came coupon-free. Her inexpensive going-away frock will serve as a best dress for a long time to come.

Mother and father Venn and Ruby pooled their clothing coupons to make the bridesmaids' dresses—24 coupons and $24 bought 12 yards of pale blue crepe, enough for three attendants. Flowers were a big item—just under $37—for Ruby chose carnations, and they're always expensive in springtime Britain.

EXLEY FUNERAL

Former Prince Rupert Man Buried at Smithers

Relatives and friends from Prince Rupert joined with people of the Smithers district when the funeral was held at Smithers last week of John Walker Exley, pioneer of Prince Rupert, for the last several years living in retirement in the interior. The funeral took place from the United Church with Rev. Mr. Johnson officiating. There were several beautiful floral tributes.

Three days honeymoon was all that Ronald could take from his work. They went to a fashionable hotel, and it cost them $40. Other incidentals mounted up, such as $16 for the cars to the church, and $15 for the wedding fee; not to mention the ring which Ronald bought for $50.

Looking back on their own wedding 30 years ago, Ruby's parents thought how times had changed. Ruby's wedding cost around $350. And their's cost $40—which they thought was a lot at the time.

Modern Etiquette
By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Should a hostess wear a hat and gloves when entertaining with a luncheon party?

A. The hostess does not wear a hat when entertaining in her own home, but at a restaurant or club she usually wears one. She does not wear gloves.

Q. Should one tip a salesgirl in a store, if she has been unusually courteous and attentive?

A. No; a tip is neither necessary or expected.

Q. If the bride is to be married in a plain suit, what should the bridesmaid wear?

A. A plain tailored suit or dress.

Q. How should the names read on a joint card of a doctor and his wife?

A. "Dr. and Mrs. James Lee Smith."

L.O.B.A. MEETING

Business at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association Thursday night included making arrangements for the annual church parade to First United Church tomorrow morning and an Orangemen's Picnic to Digby Island Monday. Plans were also made for a tea in aid of the Loyal Protestant Home to be held in September. One new member was initiated at the meeting which was presided over by the worthy mistress, Mrs. J. Johansen.

IMPROVIZATION OF HAM THEME IS INTERESTING FOR SUMMER

Ham is a good hot weather meat for town, home or country camp. It keeps longer, without refrigeration, than fresh meats. Ham sandwiches or cold sliced ham are almost standard fare for picnics. A whole ham is a good buy for the larger family but may be a luxury for a smaller group.

The family of two or three may buy a slice from the large end, or perhaps a two or three-pound butt end. A cottage roll or a picnic ham is a good choice for the small family. These are hams by courtesy, as they are cured shoulder pieces. However the cure is the same as for ham, so when cooked, the difference is slight.

Boiled ham or shoulder is a good standby, served hot or cold. When the piece is eaten down to the end and will not slice nicely, there are many ways in which those last delicious morsels may be used to advantage.

HAM SOUFFLE

2 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon chopped onion
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon paprika
2 cups milk
1/2 cup bread crumbs
2 cups cooked ham, chopped
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
Melt fat, add onion and cook slowly 2 minutes. Blend in flour and paprika and continue cooking 2 minutes. Stir in milk and bring to boil. Pour over bread crumbs. Add ham and beaten egg yolk. Cool slightly. Fold in beaten egg whites, pour into a greased baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water ovenproof in a slow oven 300 degrees F. for 1 hour. Yield: six servings.
