Terrace New Year Is Cold

But Warm Hospitality and Social Activity Was Seen

TERRACE-Bitterly cold weather ushered in the New Year here with a biting wind blowing incessantly and the temperature far below zero. At 11:30 o'clock on Sunday evening a thermometer on Kalum Street registered 17 degrees below zero and many preferrd their homes to going out to the midnight showing of "Gone With the Wind," at the local theatre

It was a quiet New Year's Day following the festivities of the previous evening.

Two big dances on New Year's Eve drew large crowds despite the zero temperature

.The Legion dance in the Oddfellows Hall was very well patronized and, dancing to the lively strains of the local orchestra kept everyone in a jolly mood. At midnight, the traditional "Auld Lang Syne" was sung in the traditional manner and refreshments were served in the Legion clubroom across the street Dancing continued till the early hours of the morning. The winner of the door prize was Mrs. P. Murie, senior.

At the Civic Centre the second annual New Year's Eve Cabaret drew a crowd of nearly three hundred people The furnace had been on for days and the big hall was fairly comfortable . Party favors, noisemakers and caps decorated the tables and colored balloons floated down to the dancers from nets suspended from the ceiling Refreshments being , in the hands of Mrs. Florence Rupert arrived in town on Sat- Bailey, a substantial cold turkey supper, with all the trimmings, was served by her helpers at midnight after the welcoming in of the New Year The rhythmic strains of Frank Gavan's orchesschool holidays at Vanderhoof tra gave pleasure to the dancer and, on her return she was ac- and watchers alle and dancing was continued until after 4 am.
