BILLIARD FINAL IS SET TONIGHT

In the handicap English billiards tournament at the Canadian Legion over the week-end, foursomes of the Old Vets and the New Vets played their final matches and the two sides will now meet this evening to decide the tournament winner. The winning pair of the Old Vets is Alex Harvey and Jack Judge while the champions for the New Vets are J. Campbell and B. G. Simundson. Both sides are playing scratch and the match of 250 points should be keenly contested.

The scores for the closing games of the respective sides in this, the final tournament of the

Sport Shots

In Sunday's football game there were no fewer than three pairs of brothers playing. The two Eby boys were giving a good display. "Brick" has been playing regularly but it was "Buck" Eby's first game for some time.
He is a good defender.

Then there were the two Sun-bergs. "Monk," the younger, who starred in basketball, gave another of his fine displays of fearless tackling and sure kicking.
Brother "Billy" on the wing was always a source of danger, controlling the ball well and setting up his inside men. It was from his pass that Pat Wilson scored.

The other duo were the Wilson brothers. They had three of the four goals between them.
John, at centre half, followed up his forwards smartly and picked up two partial clearances to drive the ball home. Pat Wilson, on the other team, gave a smart, unselfish exhibition and was a source of danger at all times.

Teams are signing up their players for the regular season.
The biggest news is the transfer of Stan Cornwell from the Battery to the Legion. The Battery will miss him, but it is probably true that the Legion will need him more than the Artillery men.

It was gratifying to have two full teams fielded on Sunday.
Many of the regular players were working but reserves showed up. A special bouquet is due the Indian lads Alvin McKay, Oscar Mercer and Robinson who at great inconvenience and some expense were determined to get to the game and did so. With that spirit among the players a good season seems assured.

AND NOW... JUST RING MEMORIES—Former king of the middleweights, Tony Zale, the Gary, Ind., ring veteran, hangs up his gloves for good as he retires from the ring. Zale was to have faced Champion Marcel Cerdan of France in New York in June but his title shot now is expected to go to Steve Belloise, the rugged New Yorker. Zale's managers, Sam Pian (left) and Art Winch are seen with Tony above.

tional Railways, said he had, as an employee of the system, seen the workers' side-over a lengthy period and for several years past, as a director, had been in a position to watch the efforts of the management. A magnificent job was being done to advance the interests of the employees and at the same time ensure the progress of the enterprise as a whole.

Walter S. Thompson, C.B.E., director of public relations, stressed the importance of the public being fully informed and having a high opinion of the services given by the railway in all its departments.

HELP APPRECIATED

"The traffic department has known the strength of employees help as a staff upon which to lean in the competitive field," said H. B. Parr, assistant to the vice-president, traffic. "We look forward with appreciation to all the help you can give us in the field of sales and service no matter what form it may take."

A progressive enlargement in members.

medical services for employees throughout the system was reported to the meeting by Dr. K. E. Dowd, chief medical officer. He said that a survey was now being made of the Saint John's area in Newfoundland and it was hoped that a medical set-up would be possible there shortly.

J. P. Wadsworth, general safety supervisor, reported that the year 1948 saw the lowest rate in time lost through accidents in many years. More than 12,000 employees in the motive power department had attended a total of 1128 first aid lectures during the year and 771 had passed examinations in this field.

T. P. Harris, general purchasing agent, in a review of supply conditions, said that the availability of materials had improved since the last committee meeting and that the end of 1949 should find all materials in good supply. He called on the employees to continue in their splendid efforts to practise economy.

During the meeting, a total of 34 subjects of mutual interest were discussed by the committee.
