

ALASKA YOUTHS TRAIN FOR LOCAL BOXING CARD

An enthusiastic group of youthful Ketchikan boxers are in training now for an international fight card which is planned to be held in Prince Rupert this spring, possibly in April. Harold Blanton, Ketchikan sports promoter, is grooming the lads in preparation for the show.

Plans for the card were made between Mr. Blanton and James Nicoll, Canadian Legion athletic committee chairman, in an exchange of courtesies here some weeks ago while the Alaskan was headed home from a trip south.

Latest dispatches from the Ketchikan training centre, via Trainer Blanton, advise that he has plenty of material to pick from and that he is training it all until he hears what weight classes and what degrees of experience the local boys have to offer.

"There seems to be more interest here than ever before and I am going to have some pretty good boys, although they are all fairly green," Mr. Blanton writes. "When you know definitely what weights you want me to bring down, let me know and I can

Island Hoopsters Train For Tourney

KITKATLA—Basketball enthusiasts in this Porcher Island village have begun training for the Native hoop tournament to be held at Prince Rupert next month. They are training on a new floor which they laid themselves in the basketball gym. The hall is 43 by 71 feet and five days of work were required to lay the floor. Team members were unanimous in their regret at learning of the destruction by fire of the Sons of Kincolith hall at Kincolith last week.

So far, four of the city's top bowlers have signified their intention of making the trip. All 7, and the local five-pin sharpshooters are happily organizing the cream of the leagues to mix with the province's best.

Since this will be the first time that Prince Rupert five-pinner will have carried the city's colors into southern competition, no one is making any rash predictions. However, there is a certainty that the local men will make a good showing even though they may not take any championships.

The city bowlers hope to send at least seven men—enough to provide two teams, since replacement of two men on a team will allow the team to enter as another team. The competitors will go south as individuals, that is, without financial support from any of the local leagues.

Arrangements have been made whereby the Prince Rupert group can arrive in Vancouver on Saturday, May 1, and still take a complete part in the tournaman will be talented Jack Paul who is top man in all the leagues, averaging better than 230 for the season. Then there will be Jim Reil, whose average dipped to 204 recently after an unfortunate session, but which probably will climb higher again.

The above three all come from the men's "A" league, while so far, Al Manson is the sole representative of the "B" section. Matherson's scoring has been averaging 210.

First week of the tournament will be given over to team competition, while the final week will be bowlers from all parts of the province in individual competition.

CITY BOWLERS SENDING TEAM TO SOUTH MEET

Seattle may deprecate Prince Rupert's threat as an Alaska shipping port but to Vancouver the menace from the north is not taken lightly in the sporting world. At least that is what local alley bowlers are led to believe.

While the local basketball association is struggling to blast itself into a position where it can take part in the B.C. championship senior "B" playoffs, bowlers here have met smooth sailing in their plans to enter a couple of teams in the provincial five-pin tournament this spring.

Bowling association executive in Vancouver have been most cordial in welcoming a Prince Rupert delegation to compete in the annual tournament to be held there from April 26 to May 7, and the local five-pin sharpshooters are happily organizing the cream of the leagues to mix with the province's best.

A Newcastle, South Africa, golfer, driving off the 15th tee, sliced the ball. It landed on the top of a car on a freight train travelling towards Durban nearly 200 miles away. If the ball reached Durban, the drive may be claimed as a world's long-distance record.

Jimmy McLarnin, the battling Celt from Vancouver floored Sid Terris, New York lightweight with just two punches in Madison Square Gardens, 20 years ago. McLarnin established his class in this 100-second knockout and went on to win the world welterweight crown. He now is retired and spends much of his time golfing in California.

Maurice Richard, Montreal Canadian right winger drove a puck past Toronto's Frank McCool with less than three minutes to play in Montreal three years ago tonight for his 45th goal of the year. Richard finished the 50-game season with 50 goals, to beat Joe Malone's National Hockey League mark of 44 goals, set in 1918 over a 22-game schedule.

ECONOMY MEASURE HAMILTON, Ont. (C)—Controller Leslie Parker proposed that firemen be reduced from four to three shirts a piece a year, thus saving the city $1,000. "Give them four shirts and cut the tails off," suggested another controller, opposing the idea.

FREEDOM isn't FREE!

Freedom, like anything worth having, carries a price tag. We can't enjoy it without accepting its responsibilities. There's freedom of speech—and we have to accept the responsibility for what we say. There's freedom of worship as we please—and the responsibility is ours to see that others aren't persecuted, either. There are lots of freedoms, and they all have their responsibilities. The freedom to use whiskey for instance. That carries a three-fold responsibility: to ourselves, to our families and to our communities. As the House of Seagram has so often said, it is to drink moderately or not at all!
