

Guide Tea, Sale Well Attended

TERRACE—The annual Guide Tea and Sale of Homecooking was held on Saturday afternoon in the Oddfellows' Hall and, the weather being fine and warm, there was a good crowd in attendance. The tables with pink and white and blue and white cloths, made and donated by Mrs. McGilvery, were placed on each side of the hall and showed to advantage the lace covered pourovers' table with its centre-piece of early spring flowers which stood at the top of the hall. Pourers were Mrs. Head, Mrs. McIlroy, Mrs. Wold and Mrs. Clifford.

The guides waiting on tables in charge of Mrs. McGilvery were Claudia King, Margery Thomas, Irene Cote, Bertha Andam, Gloria Irving, Marlene Michiel, Shaaron McIlroy, Joan Gillanders, Shirley Reynolds, Maureen Kennedy.

Mrs. A. H. Irving was in charge of the homecooking stall with guides Joan Gavan, Gabrielle Tetreault and Carol Jones helping. Mrs. W. Martin had charge of the candy stall, and her helpers were Betty Hoffman, Ivy Gillespie, Marilyn de Kergommeaux and Marianne Bissonette. Other guides helping were: Yvonne Normandeau, Mary Ann Brandis, Bonnie McColl, Ethel Loveless. In the kitchen were Mrs. Philip, Mrs. Julseth, Mrs. Haaland, Mrs. Michiel, Mrs. T. Olson, Mrs. H. Cote, Mrs. Wold and Mrs. Head. Cashier was Mrs. E. West.

Six dozen blue pyrex cups and saucers were donated by Mrs. McGilvery to the Girl Guides to use at any future teas or socials which the girls plan.

Frank Clark of Prince George, Liberal organizer for Central British Columbia, arrived in the city or last night's train from the interior. On Sunday night he will proceed to Stewart.

Choristers Give Opening Concert

TERRACE—A splendid evening's entertainment was given by the Terrace Civic Centre Symphony Orchestra and the choral group, last Friday evening, when they combined to present a program of concert music, chorus and part-songs, which delighted the large audience gathered in the auditorium of the Civic Centre.

The stage was beautifully decorated with a multi-colored background and a foreground of moss and spring flowers. It was a lovely setting for the choral group and for the ladies, who were all charming in evening gowns.

Announcer was E. S. Sargent and, following the opening "O, Canada," the orchestra, with Frank Gavan conducting, played four numbers: "Campus Pride," "Night in June," "La Cinquantaine," and "I'll See You Again."

Then came two duets and two quartettes by the singers. Roger Campbell and C. J. Norrington sang "I Passed By Your Window." Catherine Fraser and Alice Campbell sang "Sunrise and You." "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" was sung as a quartette by Catherine Fraser, Mary Little, James Stevens and Harry Philip. "I'm Falling in Love" was sung by Blanche Matte, Ruth MacPherson, Roger Campbell, and Jim Norrington.

The National Anthem brought to a close the first entertainment staged by the newly formed choral group of the Terrace Civic Centre in conjunction with the Symphony Orchestra which has been heard on several previous occasions. Playing in the orchestra were: piano, Elliott Head; violins, Mary Little, George Grant, Wm. vanHeek, George Atkinson; Clarinets, Joe Schuzak, George Peters; Cornet, George West; Cello, Bruce vanStolk; saxophones, Ted Bruc, John de Kergommeaux; drums, Francis Gavan.

Part four of the program was fully choral with C. J. Norrington conducting and Mrs. Norrington as pianist. Selections sung were, "Rolling Down to Rio," "Danny Boy," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Cradle Song" and the grand finale, "Land of Hope and Glory," which was especially well sung.

The National Anthem brought to a close the first entertainment staged by the newly formed choral group of the Terrace Civic Centre in conjunction with the Symphony Orchestra which has been heard on several previous occasions. Playing in the orchestra were: piano, Elliott Head; violins, Mary Little, George Grant, Wm. vanHeek, George Atkinson; Clarinets, Joe Schuzak, George Peters; Cornet, George West; Cello, Bruce vanStolk; saxophones, Ted Bruc, John de Kergommeaux; drums, Francis Gavan.

The singers were: Alice Campbell, Thelma Christy, Catherine Fraser, Anna Irving, Mary Little, Blanche Matte, Ruth MacPherson, Molly Wilson, David Bain, Allan Campbell, Roger Campbell, George McAdams, Harry Phillip, Jim Stevenson.

Some of the scouts acted as ushers and Claudia Philip sold fancy packets of candy. O. Kaulproceeds, a very satisfactory beek was cashier and the whole amount, go to the Civic Centre funds.
