IT STILL RUNS, TOO! — Manufacturers of early model automobiles boasted their product would last a lifetime and at least one of them has lived up to the claim. Show here, a 1901 Oldsmobile, owned by Albert Gargano of Princeton, Mass., chugs along Montreal's downtown Sherbrooke Street at a comfortable pace. The car, taking part in an annual tour from Lake Placid, N.Y., to Rochester, N.Y., has held its own on the trip with shiny new models accompanying the veterans. (CP Photo)

Job's Daughters Plan Busy Season

Canvassers for Job's Daughters in the Red Cross blood donor campaign chosen at Friday night's meeting are Agnes Smith, Mary Strachan, Heather Brewer, Gerd Lien and Donna Mac-Arthur.

The meeting decided to tag for the blind on their tag day, October 21. There was also some discussion on the fashion show to be held in October.

Reports were heard from Long Beach supreme sessions by Alex Mitchell and from the Grand Guardian Council in Vancouver by George Daves.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were presented with a home movie screen by Captain Edith Jordan of the drill team. Miss Jordan was herself presented with a set of knives by Donna MacArthur on behalf of the team.

The lodge was notified that an official visit would be paid September 27 by Supreme Guardian Mrs. Bea Ross, and Supreme Secretary, Mrs. Elizabeth Warden.
Following the business session, motion pictures of the visit to Long Beach were shown down stairs.

Women's Extra Fat Not Evenly Spread

LONDON © — Fat women are not the shape they are supposed to be, a clothing manufacturer said after measuring 800 outside women at a vacation camp.
He measured women with hips from 42 to 66 inches.

"The accepted methods, handed down from grandma's day, have been to add an inch or two all round as the sizes get bigger," he said. "No-one seems to have realized that women do not all spread in the same direction, nor do they get larger all over proportionately."

Most women, he found, averaged 16 inches from neck to waist, with little variation. He said women's shoulder do not necessarily get wider as their hips get broader.

The manufacturer said he would use his data to prove the outsized woman is not the shape the government says she is in its restrictions on the use of material in utility-style dresses.

Fishing Boat Has Close Call

A fire at Cow Bay just after noon yesterday that threatened to destroy the gillnetter Porcher 49, Charles Bolton, was brought under control by the fire department with damage confined to the net. An explosion occurred when Mr. Bolton stepped on the starter and the fire spread to the hold. The firemen arrived on the scene promptly and soon had the blaze smothered with carbon dioxide and fog.

NEWTON ABBOT, Devon, England © — Arriving half an hour late at a conference of railway supervisors, J. R. Figgins, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, gave this excuse: "Unhappily the train did not run anything like on time."

BRIGHTON, England © — "No room," was the reply to a party of would-be visitors from India.
Elephant tusks were offered as payment.
