Buşiness Along Highway

MITH SUCCEEDING YEARS as the Prince Ru-VV pert Highway becomes better known and increasingly popular, and certainly it has been enthused over by all those who have so far travelled it, more and more cars by the hundreds and thousands will be driving into Prince Rupert. The number might be much vaster than we even now conjecture.

With this in mind, it would seem that the time is now, if not long since, at hand to take stock of the situation and endow ourselves with vision to make plans ahead of time. Preparations might well be the watchword for Prince Rupert in this regard.

There is little accommodation ready either here or along the road to take care of all the traffic. Unless something is done about providing modern motor tourist accommodation in a substantial way, the city and district may well find itself unable to properly cope with that traffic alone.

INTOLERABLE NEGLECT

DLENTY OF Canadian-grown grain is finding its way to China and other Oriental lands, despite wars and other disturbed conditions across the Pacific. Much of this wheat is shipped from the American and Canadian ports on this coast. The owners of the grain have the say as to how their property will be routed.

Acknowledging all this, it is nevertheless difficult to understand why a fine and comparatively new elevator such as stands at Prince Rupert must go on, season after season, year after year, silent and idle. Why was it ever built, if foresight could picture no better use for it, than this? Excuses have been many, some sounding reasonable enough. But this unending inaction—this seeming permanency of a situation little less than intolerable—is hard to tolerate.

KNOWS DICTATORSHIP

CMALL WONDER that the Czech Minister to I Canada resigned office, and decided to remain in the Dominion when it became known that Communist power had engulfed his country. He knew there was little, if any difference between that power and Nazi authority in the enforcing of dictatorship. He had reason to know full well. When the Second World War broke out, he escaped from Czechoslovakia and in England was active in helping carry on the Czech government in exile. For this, his wife and family, his mother, a sister and brother all suffered execution in a German concentration camp.

BOHEMIA AND EUROPE

COMMUNIST SEIZURE of Czechoslovakia rounds out a new Russian empire which has not only extended dominion over an additional 100,000,000 people and their armies but has also gained a tremendous additional war potential. It has gained the Skoda armament works, the Krupps of the East. It has long been an axiom of European politics that whoever controls Bohemia has at least a good chance to control Europe. -New York Times.

CONSIDER THE PAPER BOY

ONSIDER the ubiquitous lad who delivers papers all week through rain or shine and his discouragement at so many customers finding it hard to pay when he calls. It's not a bit funny. The paper boys have to make collections to get their pay. Also, perhaps if customers would have either a letter stop or some kind of a box to leave his or her paper in, instead of putting it beside the door, there would be no risk of the wind blowing it away or other fellows taking them. The customer would get better service, and less complaints would go in against the paper boy who tries to do his best.
