As a government marketing agency for Canadian wheat, the Board is doing a job that the three prairie wheat pools learned by bitter experience is too big for any private agency, Mr. German said.

It took over in 1935 from the Canadian Wheat Pool, a marketing agency for the organized prairie farmers after the latter had lost $22,000,000 in a stabilization effort "that was too big foundland under union. He

The result of this loss, which almost broke the three prairie wheat pools, is still being feld by the farmers, although all obligations are being honored, Mr. German said.

WHEAT POOL LOSS

The Alberta Pool alone lost $6,000,000 as a result of overpayment to members when the wheat price dropped 60 cents a bushel in 1929; he added.

In the fact of these losses and despite continued low price for grain, the prairie wheat farmers did not lose their faith in the co-operative idea of marketing, Mr. German declared. Instead, they sought to widen their organization to pull out of the
